Westside initiates breakfast at school

Although there have been a few unexpected problems, all in all Westside Elementary School Principal Jo Ann Ford seemed pleased with the response and the effect of the school breakfast program initiated at her school this week.

"We have been serving about 50 students each morning," Ford said, "we have prepared for 60 and have had very little left."

She reported serving 35 students the first day of the program but said "I do not ant-ticipate serving more than 100 students on any given morning."

Ford, however, seemed pleased with the response to the program and said that one of the main reasons for the small turn-out is that many of the students have siblings in other schools not yet offering breakfast.

"A parent doesn't let one child sleep late while she feeds breakfast to another and then sends that child to school for breakfast."

However, Mrs. Ford said, the small number of children participating is helping the staff at Westside develop the procedures.

Breakfast at Westside is served from 7:45 a.m. until 8:15 a.m. giving every student time to eat before classes begin.

The menus are exciting to the third and fourth graders at Westside and one young man said the biscuit and sausage served Thursday was better than breakfast at home. Peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and grilled cheese sandwiches replace the traditional bacon and eggs and usually are much more appealing to the elementary age child.

Friday morning honey buns, pear halves and milk helped more than 50 children begin the school day with a breakfast that meets all of the state and federal nutrition stan-

United Way kickoff set for Monday

The 1977 United Way Kickoff is set for 11:50 a.m. Monday with a brief ceremony on the Northwest corner of the Courthouse Square in Georgetown.

Mayor John Doerfler, members of the Georgetown City Council, and all volunteers who are helping with this year's drive, along with the general public, are invited to attend the ceremonies.

Doerfler will paint the bottom of the giant thermometer, which will be erected and kept up-to-date on amounts of contributions to the United Way Drive, which is expected to last at least a month.

Jim Isbell, local United Way Chairman, says it took almost six weeks to gather in all the pledged contributions last year but hopes the goal of $26,909.00 can be reached this year within 30 days.

A big push will be made Monday to get the drive started with a bang as all local businessmen will be contacted during a city-wide canvass by a number of volunteer workers.

Police arrest six juveniles

Six Georgetown juveniles were arrested Wednesday by the police officers and have been charged in connection with six area burglaries, which have occurred over the summer months.

After receiving a tip from an informant that a particular youth might be in possession of stolen merchandise, one juvenile was taken to the Georgetown police department for questioning. During the questioning several other youths were incriminated and they, too, were questioned. Six male juveniles, ranging in age from 15-years to 16-years old, were finally charged with theft and burglary of a motor vehicle.

Chief of Police Travis Thomas said that all six of the youths were involved with one or more of the burglaries. Juvenile probation officer Dale Swofford assisted the officers in questioning and the youths were all released after making statements.

One or more of the youths were charged in connection with the May burglary of C&V Body Shop on Hwy. 81 south in which two mag wheels and two side exhaust pipes were stolen from a vehicle on the premises.

Two high-back black vinyl bucket seats were also taken from C&V Body Shop on May 10.

Georgetown Chrysler Plymouth reported four high back gold velvet upholstered bucket seats, two tires and two wheels stolen in August. Two of the bucket seats were confiscated from one youth's vehicle at the time of his arrest.

The juveniles were also connected with the theft of a carburetor and chrome valve covers from a vehicle parked at the Twin Rivers Trailer Manufacturing Company. The youths admitted to the theft of a Toshiba 8-track stereo tape player and a Medallion 8-track stereo from vehicles parked on the Newburg-Peschel Auto Sales lot, that had not been reported stolen.

Stolen property recovered by officers of the GPD include two of the gold bucket seats, the two black vinyl bucket seats, a set of chrome valve covers, one Holley four-barrel carburetor, two side exhaust pipes, two 14-inch tires and two 8-track stereos.

An investigation is continuing as officers attempt to locate the remaining missing items.

County will pay cash for new jail

County Commissioners announced Thursday that they will pay cash for the new jail.

"It is very unusual for a taxing authority to finance a building of this type with cash," said Commissioner Wesley Foust. "We're very proud of it."

The final cost for the jail is not known, but architects have estimated a total of around $438,000.

"We're hopeful the cost will come in under $400,000," said Foust.

Commissioners have decided to ask for bids on two types of construction, in order to keep costs down if necessary. The county will take bids for an all stone exterior on the jail addition and for construction with stone on only two sides.

The county has applied for a $103,208 federal grant to help pay the cost of building an all native stone exterior.

The stone exterior would match the existing building and keep the historic character of the jail.

The county will also ask for bids with and without paving around the jail, said Foust. "We are in a position to do that ourselves."

Speaking about the construction bids, Foust said, "I feel that if it comes out too high, we can always reject it and start over."

Architects have estimated that the jail renovation and additions should be completed by the end of 1978.

The jail, built in 1888, was recently added to the National Register of Historic Places.

Week's news in a nutshell

The Round Rock City Council, following a three-month investigation, decided that allegations of wrongdoing in the city's police department were "wholly unfounded and without merit." Jim Hislop, the Round Rock City Manager who resigned last week but said he will stay on until replaced, then fired Police Chief Kenny Langston for what he called "general mismanagement."

Bert Lance took the offensive against his critics — speaking before the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, Lance made a point-by-point rebuttal of the major charges against him and then criticized the Senators and the media for smearing his reputation with innuendoes and distortions. President Carter has reserved judgment on the future of his budget director until after the Senate hearings.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. was ordered by a state court jury to pay $3 million in damages for slandering two of its former top executives. Bell spokesmen said they will request a rate hike, claiming that the damages are a legitimate cost of doing business.

A 26 year-old Waco man was trying to kiss an Indian cobra snake in a demonstration at the Guadalupe County Fair in Seguin when the snake whipped around and bit him. He was completely paralyzed within an hour after the bite, but has since fully recovered. The moral here should be obvious.

A sudden flood in Kansas City, Missouri, left 24 dead, 1,200 homeless and more than $30 million in property damage.

An Air Force plane slammed into a mountainside on a high security Army base near Albuquerque, New Mexico, killing all 20 persons aboard. The crash occurred a half mile from a bunker containing nuclear bombs.

Leopold Stokowski, one of the greatest orchestra conductors and musical innovators of his time, died at his home in southern England at 95.

A cholera epidemic has hit Syria, with 2,300 cases already reported. Scores of cases of the deadly gastrointestinal disease have also been reported in neighboring Jordan and Lebanon.

Two American balloonists attempted to cross the Atlantic Ocean. They made it 1,720 miles before twisting winds forced them to land 800 miles short of their goal.

The USS Texas was commissioned. The $252.7 million ship is the Navy's seventh nuclear-powered guided missile cruiser.

Mark Rudd, a former radical student leader during the 60's, surrendered in New York after 7 years of hiding. He is now 30 years old.

Thirty days hath United Way drive

By Bonnie Garrington

Thirty days hath September. Right? Well, partly, but definitely not the whole picture, teach! Because for many years now, come September, thirty days hath United Way, and it begins September 19 and ends October 19.

CONSTITUTION WEEK

In 1823 Justice Johnson of the United States Supreme Court wrote that the Constitution was "The most wonderful instrument ever drawn by the hand of man." The Georgetown Daniel Coleman Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, urges you to discover precisely what he meant during this week, September 17-23, the 190th anniversary of the writing of this comprehensive document. Visit your local library and read up on the Constitution. Know your basic rights and responsibilities!

We might as well confess and out with it. In past years, Georgetown's United Way has had a hard time of it reaching the appeal's projected goal.

Last year, however, Georgetown placed a noteworthy third in the state as far as percentage in going over the city's projected goal.

Hold it, Georgetowners! Don't pay yourselves on the back just yet. That fact I gave you is somewhat misleading. As impressive a feat as it was, it seems that the state's average contribution was $4.96 per person, compared with $3.67 per person for Georgetown residents.

Two years ago the Georgetown average contribution was $1.25, so progress is being made.

This year's goal, according to United Way Campaign Chairman Jim Isbell, is to reach the national average of $7 per person.

In past campaigns, Isbell says no effort was made to reach the rural areas, but this year, due to the efforts of a Special Rural and Individual Committee, headed by

by LINDA SCARBROUGH

Grudgingly, I am getting older. My family is long-lived, however, and I have always expected to be a spry 90-year-old. I figure my mother will be going strong at 120. There's no stopping her. And I hesitate to predict anything my daddy might do.

MY GRANDMA AND GRAMPY, on both sides of the family, died in their middle and late 90's. My father's dad died fairly young, but he was an exception in our family.

My granny (mother's mother) is irrepresible. Last year, at age 85, she took her first plane trip — to Hawaii. When she got back, she said her only regret was that she couldn't stay two months. Since then, she has taken a bus to New Mexico, and in a month or so she and my mother will fly up here, and we three will tour New England and explore the nooks and crannies of New York and Washington, D.C. For years, granny has been one of the stalwart music teachers in Taylor. Every year she says she is going to cut down on students, and every year she takes on more.

Bully, I say. One of the problems of the industrial age is that most people work for others — and those others are usually corporate or industrial giants. The average man today can no longer choose to own his own farm, orchard or store, which enables him to work at his own pace, in harmony with the rhythms of nature and other people. Who can blame a worker who has been screwing on automobile fenders for 40 years for retiring early? And yet we may be killing ourselves off.

THIS MORNING I READ a fascinating article in The New York Times, which, whatever else people say about it, is a great newspaper. It is a great newspaper because it covers stories like this one, which probed the reasons why so many rural Russians live productive lives well past 100 years old.

One fellow, who at 167 may be the oldest person on earth, told the Times reporter, "I am never in a hurry. So don't be in a hurry to live, this is the main thing. Then one must observe a regular daily regimen. I have

DISCRIMINATION CUTS BOTH WAYS

There is a case now before the Supreme Court in which a white student says he was discriminated against because he is white.

REVERSE DISCRIMINATION.

But the Carter Administration thinks that's all right. Do you?

Allan Bakke is a white engineer, turned down for admission to the University of California Medical school. His grades, test scores and credentials are superior — but he is white.

And the school considered itself obligated to reserve 16 places in its class of 100 for minority applicants, even though they may have lesser credentials.

Mr. Bakke protested this discrimination in reverse. The case is now before the Supreme Court.

AND UNLESS YOU RAISE an awful row, within a week the attorney general will pressure the Supreme Court to rule against Mr. Bakke. The Administration's position is that we now have to give special consideration to blacks because of the discrimination they suffered in the past.

Some lawyers who agree in principle with the Administration position think this was the wrong case on which to make a test.

They wonder if the Administration has not deliberately sought to support a pre-doomed issue — thus to go on record as a "friend of minorities" without really jeopardizing equal rights justice.

Such a decision by the Supreme Court — allowing reverse discrimination — would make a mockery of the equal rights concept.

THOUGH THIS ISSUE now before the court relates to special admissions programs for minority students — a preferential government policy for women and blacks in enrollment — the court's ruling inevitably would relate to equal employment rights, also.

The Carter Administration heretofore has been on record only as favoring "goals," not "quotas," in increasing minority participation in schools and jobs.

But the specific case before the court — wherein a school reserves a percentage of admissions for minorities, regardless of their qualifications — is clearly a "quota."

FOR THE ADMINISTRATION now to embrace a quota system is considerably more radical than President Carter's previous position.

Literally, our Constitution guarantees "equal protection of the laws." Blacks have used this provision in winning most of their court fights for equal rights.

Now Allen Bakke is using the same provision in an effort to claim his "equal rights."

California's Supreme Court agrees with Mr. Bakke. The U. S. Supreme Court will decide this fall.

President Carter believes discrimination against whites is now justified. But one has to wonder if that is really what he wants the Supreme Court to say.

Mule coming back?

We note — with approval — that mules are making a comeback after years of obscurity.

WITH THE COST of farm equipment and fuel soaring, the old-fashioned but dependable mule is beginning to make sense to a good many small farmers, if our source of information can be trusted.

Anyone who can remember the mule does so with quite a bit of respect and affection. They were here when the main obstacle to transportation was mud and how those mules could dig in and pull!

Of course, they were ornery and contrary, mainly because they had a mind of their own. They built our railroads, highways and the Panama Canal, more than any other piece of working equipment, and for a hundred years or so they pulled the wagons and the plows, served as pack and riding animals for the army and did many other tasks. You people who have never seen a stubborn mule may yet do so, just by visiting a farm a few years from now.

Ag'in one-hour parking

The SUN hopes the City can avoid going back to one-hour parking, which is now under consideration.

IF WE, THE INDIVIDUAL automobile operators, will cooperate with the program now in effect the new and more restrictive rule on parking shouldn't be necessary.

Our Council people are interested in how much relief the new parking lot at 9th and Main will afford before they move ahead on any new scheme, which we think is wise. That lot, incidentally, is just about ready. Apparently, judging by appearance, all it needs is marking.

High-on-the-hog

We see that Big John Connally, former governor of Texas and darn near President of the United States, is still eating high-on-the-hog.

CONNALLY AND A COUPLE of Saudi Arabian gentlemen this week purchased control in one of the big Houston banks and will soon own it all. We are glad to see the Governor doing well, not that we expected anything different. He's still widely respected and admired in Texas and could, if he wanted to re-enter politics, easily win any office he sought.

My brother was an only child

Melvin Maddocks

"Brothers Are Separate People," otherwise known as BASP, is a nonprofit organization dedicated to resisting the glib idea that having a brother explains everything about a man's personality. The president of BASP — a jolly sort with three brothers and two sisters — likes to say that the first time he heard the phrase "sibling rivalry" it sounded like the name of a motorboat race to him.

In the Camelot days when a BASP member stumbled across one of those articles about how hard it was to be Bobby Kennedy when there was Jack, and how hard it was to be Jack when there was Joe Jr., he used to turn the pages with record speed, eyes averted. Now another brother act is on the Washington (and Plains) scene, and the BASPs, eyes averted, have waited patiently for all the brother-analysis to blow away, like cotton balls in Georgia.

Not a chance. And so this time the BASPs have passed a resolution that, reluctantly, in the cause of cliché-fighting, they can no longer abstain from the subject of Jimmy and Billy Carter.

A younger brother, all the brother-analysts assume, has two principal choices:

1. To follow in the footsteps of his older brother as best he can.

2. To do pretty much the opposite.

It has been oh-so-simple, as the BASPs see it, to set up a Carter-brothers stereotype along the lines of the second proposition. Jimmy is presented as the model boy. The faithful dawn-droer of farm chores. The buckle-down student. The Annapolis patriot. The family man. The Sunday School teacher. Lillian's obedient son for life. The model boy who — as all model boys are invited to — grew up to be President.

As for Billy, he never grew up at all, or so the sibling pundits confidently argue. He has remained the perpetual kid. The whittler on the porch. The hanger-around the gas station. Red-necked Billy, the Good Old Boy (Yahoo!), playing L'il Abner to Jimmy's Robert E. Lee.

This, the BASPs protest, is the way the brother-analysts cartoon the Carters, and Billy — now a $500,000 commodity on the public-appearance circuit — seems to be trapped within the clownish lines of his dumb-brother caricature, they fear. He is the first to point out that Jimmy and Ruth were always at the top of their classes while he was sort-of 25th in a class of 26. The only picture he ever poses for are "after-hours." Jimmy dares to be seen — loves to be seen — playing softball; Billy doesn't dare to be seen working.

And yet, like Jimmy, Billy has been a hard worker, the BASPs note, putting in 12-hour days on those Carter peanuts. Like Jimmy, he has The Smile — as well, apparently, as the shrewd toughness that operates behind the smile. Like Jimmy, he aspires to private candor in public. "I'll never lie to you" could be Billy's motto as well.

In fact, Billy can be read as his own kind of populist, the BASPs suggest. If Jimmy wears sweaters, Billy wears sweatshirts. Jimmy walking to the inauguration and Billy propping his feet on anything that will support them — isn't this one and the same image, with the unwritten descriptive line, "I don't put on airs"?

So, with equal glibness, the BASPs analyze their way into "proving" that Jimmy and Billy are actually as alike as two peanuts in a shell. Will the world get their point? That in either case poor Billy is left with only two options. Whatever he does or says, he will face the awful prospect of hearing: "How like his brother!" Or: "How unlike his brother!"

Like all brothers hog-tied by the sibling rivalry in the minds of beholders, Billy Carter will simply have to repeat the BASPs slogan until he and everybody else believe the old, profound joke: "My brother was an only child."

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

By Bill Kidd

AUSTIN — Some possibilities hardened into certainties over the past week as far as the 1978 gubernatorial sweepstakes are concerned — but the overall picture remains as murky, or more so, as before.

Former Gov. Preston Smith ended whatever suspense there was on his political plans by making his announcement by mail — leaving reporters wondering if they should send their questions to him by postcard (at the time Smith's announcement was arriving on editors' desks, his Austin campaign office had offices but no telephones).

STATE GOP CHAIRMAN Ray Hutchison called a press conference to announce his desire to get back into public service, too, so he's leaving the party chair to do just that.

"Hutch" will be making the race on the GOP side; hints to that effect have been circulating through various rumor mills for months (as was true of Smith also).

Attorney General John Hill had a reception at Austin's municipal auditorium; his announcement is due any time.

And "the present governor" (as Hill likes to call Dolph Briscoe) held a press conference — a sort of "showing the flag" to the political insurgents around the Capitol and in the hinterlands.

Everyone now, naturally, is trying to decide just what effect the various factors in the political equation will have, come voting day.

Smith is expected to take some six percent of the vote (by estimates from aides to other gubernatorial contenders) but whether he'll help or hurt John Hill in the Democratic primary is the big question.

Two schools of thought exist on that matter.

One holds Smith may strip away some conservative votes from Briscoe.

Another holds Smith will strip away some protest votes from Hill.

ONE OBSERVER FEELS some liberals may vote for Smith to tell Hill he's not liberal enough for them.

And Smith should get some votes from people who just want to vote for Smith (after all, they did that several times in the past).

Just how many votes Smith gets may depend on such matters of chance as where his name falls on the ballot — and what the weather is like on primary day.

Hutchison may attract some conservatives who otherwise would be voting for Briscoe, but unless the Dallas bond attorney gets some opposition, the GOP primary likely will be a ho-hum affair.

Some opposition among the Republicans is possible, of course, and former Gov. John Connally reportedly has been working to stir up some interest there.

RUMOR HAS it the GOP would like to see former Ambassador to Great Britain Anne Armstrong in that gubernatorial race — which would provide for a lively primary.

Nor would Mrs. Armstrong be an opponent Briscoe could simply ignore (as he more or less did with his last woman opponent).

But it was Smith's entry that created the most speculation on causes and effects in political circles this week.

Smith himself put his decision on the basis of wanting to serve the state again, but that explanation wasn't acceptable to most observers around the rotunda.

Most feel that Smith misses the excitement of the political arena, after some 16 years as a mover and shaker in State government.

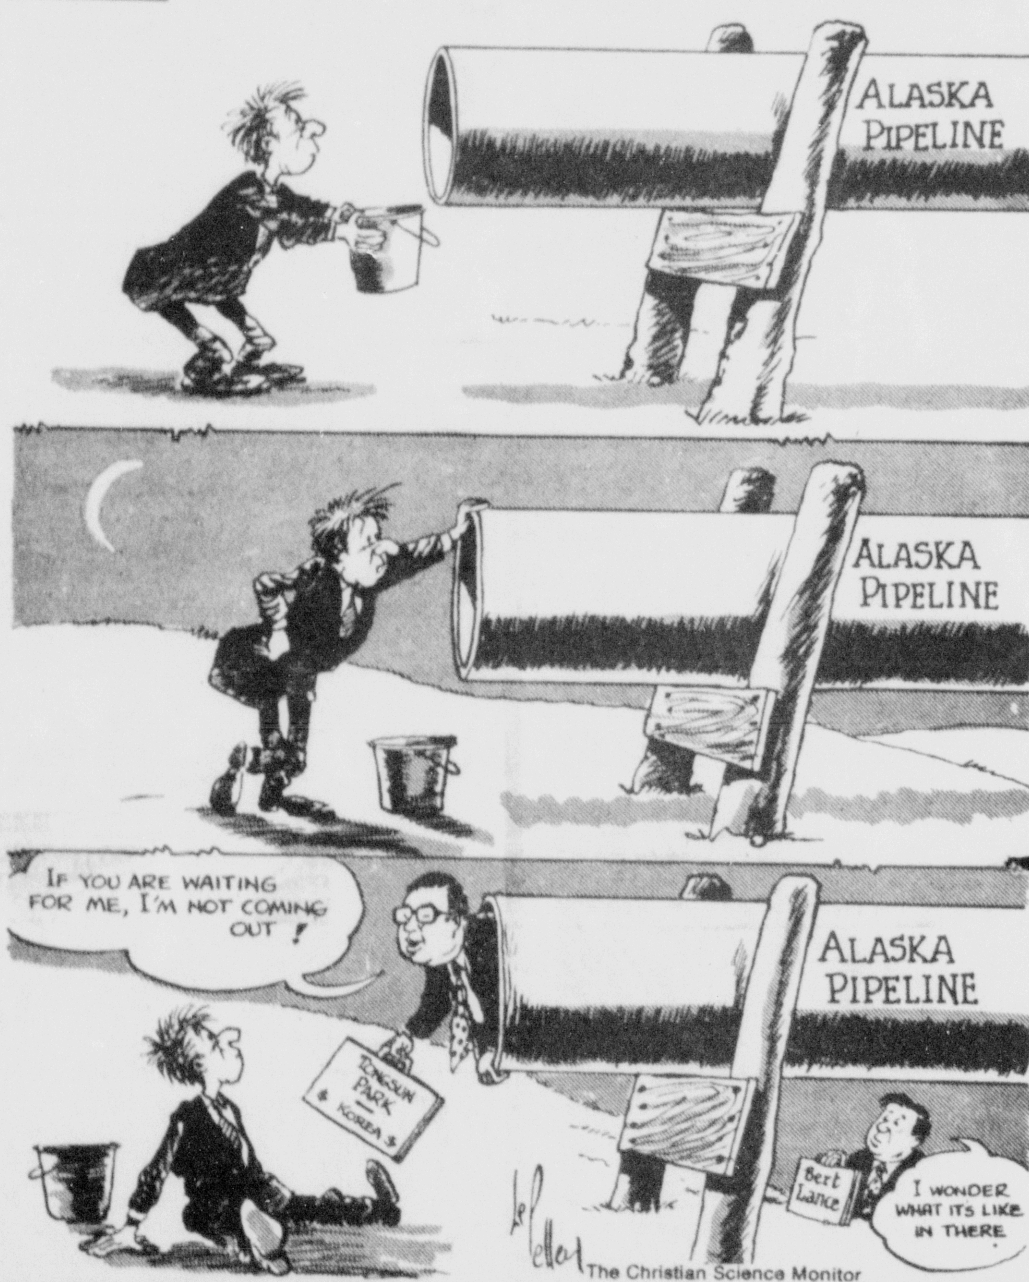

Others see some sort of conspiracy, with Comptroller Bob Bullock (an old Smith aide) somehow getting Smith in the race to help Briscoe torpedo Hill's efforts — with Bullock to receive some sort of gubernatorial benediction from Briscoe in 1982.

BULLOCK HAS DENIED, vehemently, that he's any kind of political hit-man for Briscoe, despite his obvious feuding with Hill in recent weeks over various matters.

At any rate, Smith's entry has resulted in another challenger for Briscoe — and a definite instead of un-announced one.

And if no one now thinks Smith can win, that doesn't mean he's not going to be a factor.

Six percent of the vote is six percent of the vote — and whatever Smith gets will be taken away from some other candidate.

AUSTIN—Texas tax collections set an alltime record during the 1977 fiscal year just concluded.

Comptroller Bob Bullock said $4.194 billion in revenue had been brought in through his office.

The total is $651 million above the previous high in fiscal 1976 when collections totalled $3.5 billion.

The $4.194 billion figure includes $351.5 million in city sales taxes which were collected and processed through Bullock's office.

Bullock said the single-month record also was broken in August when his revenue processing division deposited $594.6 million. May 1977 set the previous record of $540 million in tax revenues deposited in the state treasury.

Sharp increases in sales, motor and special fuel and oil and natural gas taxes accounted for most of the record collections.

Bullock said intensified collection efforts by his office also helped boost the total.

State sales tax collections for the year jumped 15 per cent over fiscal 1976, city sales taxes 14.9 per cent, motor and special fuels collections 4.5 per cent and oil and natural gas taxes a combined 15.7 per cent.

Bullock reported his auditors discovered $91.5 million in tax deficiencies, 27 per cent more than the previous year—money that otherwise would have gone uncollected.

AG RACE UNDERWAY

Former House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. has made official what has been general knowledge for two months: he is running for attorney general in the Democratic primary.

Daniel, 36, son of former Gov. Price Daniel, announced his plans in news conferences here, in Dallas and Houston, and made his official campaign kickoff speech at a barbecue in Liberty, his hometown.

Secretary of State Mark White, a Baylor law classmate of Daniel, has made clear he also plans to get in the race.

James Baker III, a Houston attorney who ran President Ford's national campaign last fall, has indicated he may run as a Republican. Atty. Gen. John Hill is expected to challenge Gov. Dolph Briscoe in the Democratic primary.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

Gov. Briscoe caught the state capital community by surprise when he named Hugh C. Yantis Jr., former executive director of the Texas Water Quality Board, as chairman of the State Board of Insurance.

Yantis, 63, acknowledged he doesn't know much more about insurance than any other policyholder, but he noted his credentials as an administrator and said he thinks he can serve fairly and honorably.

Atty. Gen. Hill appointed James R. Riggs, formerly of Corpus and Pasadena, as head of his bonds and charitable trusts division.

Nine members have been named to the Texas Medical Disclosure Panel under the new medical malpractice act.

David Bragg will head Hill's consumer protection division.

YARBROUGH QUILTS BAR

Don Yarbrough, who resigned from the Supreme Court in the face of ouster by the legislature, turned in his law license to cut off a disbarment proceeding.

The State Supreme Court allowed Yarbrough to resign from the Bar.

However, he still faces felony charges of perjury and forgery, and his trial is scheduled October 10.

Yarbrough contends he is innocent of charges against him, but does not have financial resources to defend himself against 100 separate Bar allegations of misconduct.

AG OPINIONS

Financial statements submitted to Texas Education Agency by proprietary schools are public under the open records act, Atty. Gen. Hill said.

In other new opinions, Hill concluded:

A new law does not prohibit issuance of a certificate of occupancy for an apartment building which lacks individual utility meters or sub-metering if a building permit has been issued prior to Jan. 1, 1978.

After September 1, school districts can require teachers to have more than 10 days of inservice training during their 10-months contract period without extra compensation, as long as the overall per day compensation is equal to the minimum base.

TEXTBOOK HEARING STARTS

The State Textbook Committee began a hearing Monday to select books and related teaching materials to be recommended for state adoption this year.

Final selection and adoption will be completed by the State Board of Education at its November 12 meeting in Austin.

The textbook proclamation calls for new materials in 16 elementary and secondary subjects.

Materials selected will be available for use in Texas schools starting Sept. 1, 1978.

Old Leander Junior High reopens Monday morning

The old Leander Junior High building, constructed in 1938, has been given a facelift, and the school board plans a ribbon-cutting ceremony next Monday morning to show everyone the new improvements.

"We have taken an old building in a dilapidated state and made it into a modern, nice-looking facility," said Superintendent Joe Ward.

EVEN THOUGH the building was in sad shape, it was in use last year, he added.

"It's a nice looking facility now, but it took an awful lot of work," said Ward.

The building, which will serve as a separate campus for the 380 7th and 8th graders in the Leander District, will be occupied by students at 8:15 Monday morning, September 19, following a ribbon cutting ceremony.

East Williamson County

A LOT of people in this east end of our county know of the Taylor Czech Chorus, heard them in person, on the radio and TV, but may not know of their gradually but solidly increasing capability and popularity in Central Texas and now spreading into other parts of the state.

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Mrs. James (Patsy) Bartosh they are gaining wider recognition with every performance. They are a definite cultural asset to Taylor. As such they're on my bragging list and if our editor bears with us we'll introduce the whole group, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kubala, Mrs. Leona Stalmach, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kincl, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kincl, Katherine Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Ladewig, Mrs. Kunze, Mrs. Bruckner, Mrs. Mary Kubala, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Cuba, Carolyn Mae Hickman, Mrs. J. Ivicic, Mrs. R. J. Bartosh, and Mrs. Lloyd Reveille. This is the group that drew the record-breaking crowd on the first night of Austin's aquafest. They are very much in demand and you'll be hearing more of them and about them in the future.

NOW TAYLOR has the Photomat and now when I shoot a bad picture (which happens quite often) and they don't develop a beautiful picture, I can blame them. . . like my Rannels county cousin who not being able to add up a row of figures blamed it on his teacher, saying that his teacher "ain't learned him nothin' but good grammar".

OUR LATEST transplant from Georgetown, Bill Luedecke is very much alive and well. Already knee-deep in civic work and development. . . and popular with the old settlers.

THE TAYLOR Chamber of Commerce banquet is scheduled for October 11. The place: Taylor High School Cafeteria. That's the one with all the trimmings. . . the outstanding citizen award, the outstanding farmer plaque, etc, etc. You all come.

SALUDO cordial a nuestros circunvecinos Mejico-Americanos por motivo de las fiestas septembrinas!

The renovation included adding three portable buildings that will provide 6 additional classrooms, panneling the walls, carpeting the classrooms, putting in sidewalks and painting the school inside and out, said Ward.

A NEW SEPTIC system was also hooked up Thursday.

All that remains to be done is replace the top soil over the septic hook-ups and landscape around the portable buildings.

THE LEANDER SCHOOL Board meet Tuesday night, September 13, and approved a budget for the 1977-78 year, said Ward.

The budget calls for spending of $2,671,238.

The increase in the budget is because of growth in the district and for state-required salary increases, said Ward.

The tax rate will remain the same, $1.53 for each $100 of property evaluation.

ADDED SPACE — Three portable buildings have been added to provide six additional classrooms for the 380 7th and 8th graders in the Leander district.

COVER UP — Workers replace top soil where the new septic system was put in for the old Junior High Building in Leander. The system was installed Thursday, and students will begin using the building on Monday.

New law allows moving of cars from accidents

A freeway is supposed to be just that: free. And when a wreck on the main lanes disrupts the free flow of traffic, it can mean big trouble. Usually lasting about 45 minutes, the disruption is dangerous and costly.

That's the reason for a change in the law and a change in public understanding of the law. Many drivers think one should not move vehicles involved in freeway accidents under any circumstances until police arrive.

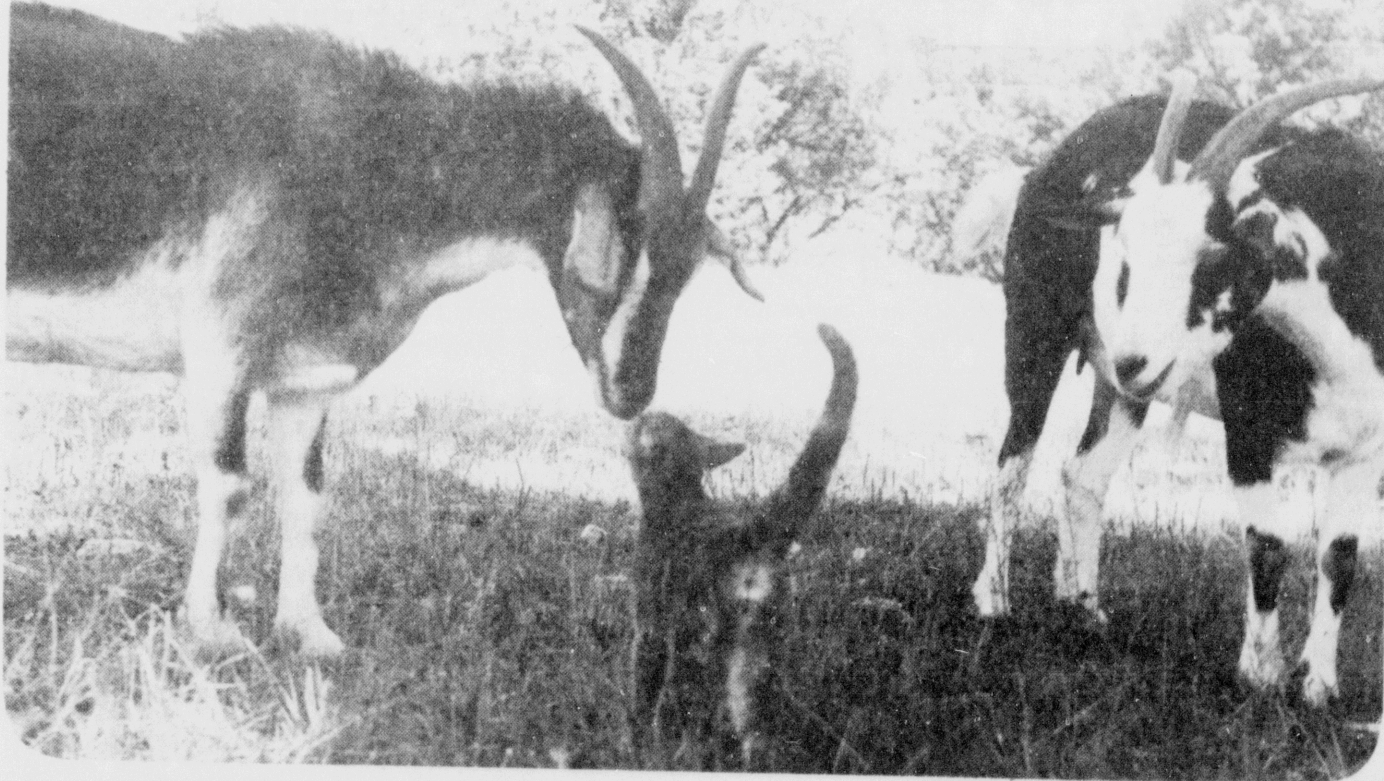

A new state law, House Bill 368, allows the immediate moving of veicles involved in accidents on the main lanes of the freeway to a point of safety, providing the vehicles can be moved safely.

Wrecks on the freeway have some serious secondary effects. Wrecks on the freeway often cause other wrecks. At best, freeway wrecks slow the free flow of traffic as a result of other drivers wanting to see what's going on. That slowdown on the freeway can be dangerous.

The new law applies to freeways in population centers of 100,000 people or more. That includes central cities and adjacent incorporated cities and unincorporated urban districts.

In some large cities, notably in Houston, "accident investigation sites" have been provided on freeways by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Ideally, these sites are located out of sight of the freeway in order to eliminate the traffic slowdown by curious rubbernecking drivers.

JUST LOOKING FOR A FRIEND — Scooter the kitten is fearless. If anything moves, she's ready to play. Goats however have a different philosophy — if you can't climb on it and can't eat it — who needs it?

FTA organizes aide program

The Future Teachers of America club at Georgetown High School is sponsoring an elementary teacher aide program composed of high school students.

Mrs. Carolyn Sydow and Karen Schleyer, who are sponsors of the FTA, organized the teacher aide program for the first time this year.

Nineteen club members are scheduled to work as aides and will go to the Primary and Westside and Middle Schools during one quarter of the school year to work as a teacher's aide. The objective of this in-class experience is to give high school students the opportunity to work in the classroom situation with young children in a variety of learning areas.

Before the elective can count as a graduation and transfer credit the aide must attend an orientation course twice each week for the first quarter. Guest speakers for the course will include GHS principal James Hundley, GHS librarian Mrs. Ladaine Burson, Southwestern University professors Mrs. Kathy Johnson and Dr. Bruce Mossman, Westside Elementary teacher Mrs. Beverly Truehardt and elementary school counselor Mary Francis Radius.

NEW TELETYPE — Randy Neville, chief Sheriff's dispatcher, runs a driver's license check on the new teletype.

New teletype links Sheriff's Dept. with national computer

The Williamson County Sheriff's Department became hooked up to a nationwide computer system last week, as the county's new teletype was installed.

The teletype console, which looks like a machine with two typewriters and a television, is in the radio dispatcher's booth in the Sheriff's Office.

"IT CAN be used to check criminal records, driving records, ownership of automobiles, or stolen goods," said chief radio dispatcher Randy Neville. It can also be used to find out if an individual is wanted or to send messages to any law enforcement department in the nation.

The teletype links Georgetown with computers in Washington, D.C. and in Austin.

THE VIDEO SCREEN shows the dispatcher what information is being sent from the Sheriff's Department to the computers.

The teletype prints out information that is sent back to Georgetown.

"It used to take 30 to 40 minutes to run a license check by phone to Austin," said Neville. "Now I have gotten them in less than 60 seconds."

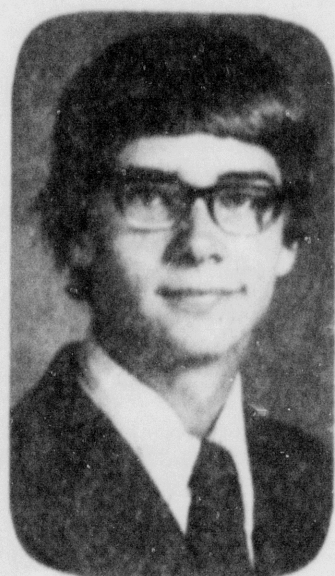

The Sheriff's Department also uses the teletype to send information about stolen goods in the county.

ALL STOLEN property goes on the national computer.

The system makes the dispatcher's work faster, but it has also increased the amount of work.

The number of information requests we run has increased by 200 percent in just the last week, said Neville.

The unit cost $10,000, of which the county paid $1,500.

Smith visits Nova Scotia

Navy Interior Communications Electrician Fireman Emmett W. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin M. Mitchell of 801 S. Scenic Drive, Georgetown, recently visited Halifax, Nova Scotia.

He is serving as a crewmember aboard the destroyer USS Peterson, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

He and his shipmates visited the Canadian city following a transit from Newport, R.I., where the Peterson was engaged in training Navy midshipmen. The visit was the first official port call for the Peterson, since her commissioning July 9 in Pascagoula, Miss.

His ship is 563 feet long, displaces 7,800 tons and carries a crew of more than 250 officers and enlisted men. She is primarily designed for antisubmarine warfare (ASW) and is armed with two lightweight five-inch guns, ASW torpedo tubes and an ASW rocket launcher. Additionally, his ship is capable of carrying a light multi-purpose helicopter for long range detection and attack of submarines.

A 1975 graduate of Georgetown High School, he joined the Navy in May 1975.

Florence church schedules picnic

The First Baptist Church of Florence will hold its second annual picnic Saturday, September 24, beginning at 3 p.m.

Games have been planned for all ages and will include such favorites as an egg toss, penny scramble and a baseball game.

A potluck supper is scheduled to be enjoyed at 6 p.m. and everyone attending is asked to bring their favorite dishes.

The church will provide tea, bread, plates, napkins, knives and forks.

The afternoon should provide fellowship and fun in the Florence City Park.

Wilson urges support for all amendments

At the Knights of Columbus meeting in Taylor Monday evening, Don Wilson, City Councilman from Round Rock, urged the crowd to support the constitutional amendments on the November ballot. The 65th Legislature has proposed seven amendments. Wilson urged the passage of all seven.

On the proposed amendment dealing with pre-trial bail, Wilson pointed out that the vast majority of serious crimes are committed by a minority of criminals who commit more crimes while free on bond. "We need to protect the law abiding citizens from the law breakers. This amendment would allow the local Judge to exercise discretion in releasing accused criminals on bail," Wilson added, "the passage of this amendment would reduce serious crime in Texas by 27 per cent."

Included in the proposed amendments is an additional $200 million for veteran's land bonds and approval of electronic transfer of funds. Wilson said, "local banks should have the option to operate electronic funds transfer systems if they want. We have more and more governmental regulations telling us what we can't do. The banks don't need the government to tell them how to run their business, they need to be able to serve their customers."

Also, Wilson said that the Veterans Land Program was one of the programs which tries to help veterans get started. "We have seen a drop in the support for the veterans, but I believe that we should continue to show our appreciation for the veteran's service to our nation," Wilson urged the passage of all seven amendments and urged every citizen to vote.

JEAN AND BILL HENDERSON

Realtor of the Week

Jean and Bill Henderson at Hillhigh Realty in Georgetown have been in the real estate business more than eight years.

When they originally came to the city they concerned themselves with selling lots in the many subdivisions and now, Bill says, "we handle about 75 per cent residential property and the balance is in land and commercial property."

Jean is on the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and she and her husband are members of Williamson County Board of Realtors, of which Bill is a past president. State and National Associations of Realtors' the Austin Board of Realtors, Multiple Listings Service and the Texas Farm and Land Institute.

Bill, who said that he is originally from a small town, added, "it didn't take me long to discover how nice Georgetown is."

Jean, too, finds living here a rewarding experience and she commented on how good the schools are and the number of community activities available.

The couple has two sons still living at home. They are Scott, who is in the tenth grade at GHS and Gary, who is an eighth grader at the junior high.

The Hendersons, who are members of First Baptist Church in Georgetown, love to travel. However, Bill says, "We work eight days a week so we don't get to do much traveling these days."

The Hillhigh Realty office is located at 1801 Williams Dr. next to Lakeaire Shopping Center.

Editors set at Leander

Leander High School Seniors Pam Burda and Linda Kuykendall were appointed editors of their high school newspaper and yearbook recently.

Pam heads a slate of 14 other journalism students who will publish the monthly edition of "Lion's Roar". Joining Pam are Seniors Karen Nejtek and Leonard Cowan who will share responsibilities of editorial writing as members of the Editorial Board. Senior Darla Dike and Freshmen Leonard Kinney, co-news editors, and Tracy McSpadden and Tim Jones, co-sports editors.

Denise Henley and Linda Weed, both seniors, will share responsibilities as features editors and Lisa Wilson and Cheryl Spencer are advertising managers. Jeanette Garner and Rickey Fair will contribute artwork and photographs and Debbie Wahrmond, Donna Hall, and Helen Tingle will handle layout and proofreading chores.

Linda leads a seven member staff. Senior cheerleaders Sabrina Custer and Rhonda Johnston will be photographer and personalities editor. David Hardcastle and Max Roesch will co-edit the sports section, and Rickey Fair has been chosen clubs editor. Senior Carol Stence and Sophomore Jennifer Johnson are responsible for the academics and activities sections, rounding out the staff.

HONEY BUNS and pear halves are a pretty good breakfast — at least Brenda Gonzales thinks so. Brenda is one of more than 50 students at Westside Elementary School who are taking advantage of the breakfast program being conducted there.

were demonstrating the snap for a large number of fans who attended the Booster Club meeting Monday night in the GHS Fieldhouse.

Horticulture Notes

By John N. Cooper

Rains of one inch and more falling on the Williamson County area have wet the soil to a depth of a foot or more. This will give desperately needed moisture to native plants and wildlife. Pastures are already beginning to show some healthy green growth. Many of the ornamentals are finding some relief after months of seeming neglect.

However, the picture is not entirely all bright. Along with the rain came the pecan weevil. The only confirmed case has come from Jonah on the San Gabriel River. Sprays in commercial orchards have begun for this pest and the accompanying threat of scab development. Some are continuing to spray for the hickory shuckworm. Continue to check for the weevil by knocking them out of the limbs onto a groundcloth. When you have 3 or 5 to a tree spray with Carbaryl on a 10 to 14 day schedule until you find no more weevils. Another good rain anytime should cause a strong emergence.

I am getting a number of calls about what the yellow blotches are on the leaves of pecans. This damage is widespread right now. They are caused by the black aphid. A number of insecticides will work on aphids. Consult your local pesticide dealer or the County Extension Office at 863-8343.

WITH A CROP shaping up and trees showing some stress due to disease pressure this is a good time to evaluate your trees for thinning this winter. In a crowded state trees compete for moisture, nutrients and light.

Many do not recognize that the diameter of tree rooting usually extends 2 1/2 times the height of the tree. If you would lay the tree flat against the ground in every direction from the trunk you would approximate the extent of the root system.

Each tree should have its own rooting area to prevent competition among trees for moisture and nutrients. By allowing the height of the trees to govern spacing you would imagine the roots extending from the trunk the same distance that the ground line is to the top of the tree. Since most trees are round this method gives you approximately 25% shade and 75% sunlight to the orchard floor at high noon in August.

However, experience has shown that optimum production per given area of trees results when 50% shade and 50% sunlight hits the orchard floor at high noon in August. This then is the Extension recommendation for native orchard tree spacing.

REMOVING TREES that shade each other brings extra sunlight to the remaining trees. This then increases the rate of food manufacture used in the growth of roots, trunk, stems, leaves and nuts. Air circulation is improved which encourages drying of dew in the morning and moisture after rains. Since disease develops only when leaves are wet thinning naturally helps prevent diseases and the need for sprays to control them.

When selecting trees to keep and which to cut look at each tree on the basis of quality and quantity of pecans, resistance to disease, ability to utilize zinc, general health and vigor, overall shape and strength of branching. Certainly nut production is primary and disease resistance is important but the general vigor of the tree will determine the ultimate age and capacity for production. There is also a preference of certain insects for some trees over others. Hickory shuckworm, phylloxera and pecan weevil for instance will occur more readily on some trees than on others. A good manager will constantly watch his trees to see which are pulling their own weight and which won't even provide food for wildlife.

On September 29, at 6 p.m. a field day will be held at John Adamek's native orchard one mile south of Beakiss. August Adamek will explain how he has shaped three mixed hardwood creek bottoms into producing orchards in the last several years. His experience should prove invaluable to those interested in improving their own orchard or creek bottom by thinning. Simply take County Road 112 out of Taylor to County Road 619, go south to Spur 619 where you exit to Beakiss. Continue on one mile south of Beakiss. The road turns into gravel about 1/2 mile before John Adamek's orchard. Hope to see you there.

Samaritans sing for AARP club

The Samaritan Singers from Austin will present a program of music for the American Association of Retired People following a covered dish supper at 6 p.m. Tuesday, September 20, at the Stonehaven Center in Georgetown.

The Samaritans are widely known for their sacred music. All AARP members are urged to attend and all other retired people are invited to visit and join the organization.

DISCOVER 4-H

By CAROLYN BONNER & EDWARD WILKIE

Throughout its history the 4-H program has continued to expand and mature, reaching out today to 5.8 million youth on farms and ranches, in small towns, suburbia and major cities. Population shifts, changing living patterns and youngsters' evolving needs are reflected in the contemporary 4-H program.

Even through all the changes, the basic 4-H concepts of helping youngsters help themselves, personal development and learning-by-doing are essentially the same today as in the early 1900's. Today's 4-H program has the benefit of vastly increased numbers of professional Extension workers and volunteer adult and teen leaders.

THROUGH THE YEARS 4-H has had the benefit of able national leadership and private sector support at all levels has dramatically increased. But perhaps most significant is the even larger role of volunteer leaders who give freely of their time and talents in working with young people.

4-H owes a real debt of gratitude to its pioneers — men and women who had a vision: that the seeds of 4-H, properly nurtured, would take root and grow into a vast and significant informal youth education program.

IF YOU would like to become a part of the Williamson County 4-H program, check the following RANGER-- Could you tell me the name of the actor who was the host on the TV show Death Valley Days? He was called the Old Ranger on the show. Mrs. C. Perkins, Cheshire, Conn.

Stanley Andrews was the old-timer who smoked his pipe and spun tales on Death Valley Days. He was later replaced by Ronald Regan, who quit the show to run for office, remember?

STUNG-- Has the movie "The Sting" ever been on television? If it has, can you tell me when? This is very important since I have a bet riding on it. R. Hulbert, Fargo, N.D.

Hope you didn't get stung on that bet. "The Sting" was never shown on network television, although clips from it may have been. However, the film could have been shown on cable TV, and subscribers may have seen it. It was re-released to theatres this year, so you can bet it hadn't been on the tube.

THEMES-- Where can I get the theme music to The Life and Times of Grizzly Adams? Who wrote it, and where can I write to Dan Haggerty? Russellville, Tenn.

A recording of the theme is just being made, so it's not available in the stores yet. It was composed by Don Perry with lyrics by Thom Pace, who also sings it. You can write Haggerty at 556 2nd South, Salt Lake City, Utah, 84102.

SICK STUFF-- I bet you're probably sick of questions about "Star Wars" and Mark Hamill, but could you answer a question that's been nagging me? Didn't he star in the short-lived series The Texas Wheelers? Jack Elam was his father. Johnny Roxbury, Alice, Tex.

Be nagged no more. Mark Hamill co-starred with Gary Busey as Elam's young 'uns. I even dug up an old photo from the show to prove it. It was Texas Wheelers, by the way.

AGELESS?-- How old is Farrah Fawcett-Majors anyway. No one ever prints her age. My husband says

she's in her 20s, but I figure her for 30. What do you think? Andrea Carey, Dayton, Ohio

I don't think much about Farrah or her age, actually, but to answer your question I'd say she's at least 30, maybe a couple of years past that. Her age is a secret.

SWAN SONG-- Is it true that Britt Ekland is leaving Rod Stewart? I can't believe it, after being on the cover of People Magazine and all. M. LaMott, Orangeburg, N.J.

I hope you're kidding about the People Magazine bit. Britt and Rod, the Dick and Liz of rockdom, are splitsville. Not only has she left, but she's planning on taking half of all his assets with her. Having been his "partner" for two years may qualify her for several million under California's communal property law.

TV Star Scene

Basketball superstar Kareem Abdul Jabbar seems to be shooting higher than the hoop these days. Jabbar will play a nine-foot mineral prospector from another world in an up-coming episode of The Man from Atlantis. He's threatening the earth with destruction by siphoning off the ocean's water. The Laker's star was recently on Laugh-In, and has previously guested on Emergency! and Mannix. Will the TV heavens be next for the big fella?

The Battle of the Network Stars, which was a big rating's hit last year, will be coming up again in November. Already set for the ABC team are Penny Marshall, Kristy McNichol, Bill Crystal (from Soap), Victor French (Carter Country), Jaclyn Smith and Gabe Kaplan, the man NBC's Robert Conrad vowed to beat.... an did, nearly suffering a stroke in the tug-of-war finale... Louis Jourdan is playing another leading man, although a less romantic one, as he rehearses for PBS's production of "Dracula." It's a three-parter set for Great Performances in March.

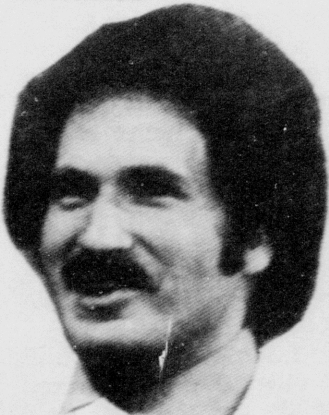

Robert Vaughn, who played the icy chief of staff in Washington: Behind Closed Doors, is tackling another political role. He just opened in a one-man show titled "That Man-FDR," in which he plays Franklin Delano Roosevelt. After its Seattle, Wash., run, the play will go on national tour... Television will tackle one of its own bugaboos- the effect of televised violence on children, when NBC airs "The Storyteller." Martin Balsam, Patty Duke Astin and James Daly co-star in the story of a TV writer's crisis of conscience when one of his TV shows has disastrous effects. A child, seeing arson on the show, sets a fire himself, and dies in it.

Betty Ford will host a special performance of the Soviet Union's famed Bolshoi Ballet, who will perform Tchaikovsky's "The Nutcracker" in a Christmas special this winter... Dick Crenna and Jackie Cooper will go behind the camera to direct a couple of segments of CBS's new series Lou Grant... If the young woman who played Stephanie, the Soviet gymnast who fell for Lucan, looks familiar, it may be because she's the daughter of Efram Zimbalist, Jr.. The young actresses name is Stephanie Zimbalist... The Love Boat keeps chugging along, with new guests including Anson Williams, Arte Johnson, David Groh, Michelle Lee, Pat Morita and Tom Poston.

Trish Van Devere, wife of George C. Scott, will make another of her rare TV appearances, as a ruthless network exec who slays her lover-boss when he vetoes her promotion on a two-hour Columbo. The Peter Falk series will run four episodes this year... Sportscaster Frank Gifford will play himself in an upcoming segment of The San Pedro Beach Burns... Guests on future editions of The Carol Burnett Show are Natalie Cole, Jim Nabors, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme.

ABC has money to burn these days. They're coughing up $500,000 to Universal TV to develop a replacement series, "Star Worlds." The deal calls for hardware and some scripts to be developed, but no pilot film will be made. The special effects company that worked on "Star Wars" has also been called in. A decision will be made sometime in October as to whether the project will be undertaken.

Gabe Kaplan will head ABC's tearp again on Battle of the Network Stars, set for November.

Sci-Fi for TV

"Logan's Run," last year's science fiction hit at movie theatres around the country, comes to television this year in two forms. Following the world television premiere of the film, CBS will begin showing a new action-adventure series based on the film and also called "Logan's Run." For the series, Gregory Harrison and Heather Menzies will assume the roles of Logan and Jessica, created by Michael York and Jenny Agutter.

"Logans Run" is set 200 years in the future, in a world in which a nuclear holocaust has destroyed most of Earth's civilization. Most people live within domed cities. Their objective in life is the attainment of pleasure; their ultimate goal is Carousel, a mystical liturgy in which those over thirty seek renewal in the flaming ritual

- and find death.

There are rumors of life outside the domed cities: pockets of civilization remaining from earlier times. The rumors are vehemently denied by the government, but Logan, who is approaching his thirtieth birthday, decides to investigate for himself. With the help of an underground movement, he escapes, accompanied by Jessica.

Logan and Jessica carry on a continuing search for a nebulous utopia they have heard described as Sanctuary. They are accompanied by Rem, played by Donald Moffat. Rem is an android, gifted with many human qualities, who abandons his robot-run community, Mountain City, to join Logan and Jessica in their search for freedom.

Logan and Jessica are pursued by Randy Powell as Francis, Logan's former friend and a dedicated Sandman, as the elite policemen of the city are called. Francis is determined to return the pair to the Domed City, because he believes in enforcing society's rules even when he is no longer within the boundaries of that society.

Logan and Jessica acquire an operable hovercraft from an earlier era and use it to fly across the wastelands left by nuclear explosions. They find scattered communities, but find also that these communities are not in contact with each other. Besides the goal of finding Sanctuary, Logan and Jessica are determined to return to the Domed City and rescue others among their friends who are approaching their thirtieth birthdays.

NEWSPAPER BIZ

Nancy Marchand plays Mrs. Margaret Pynchon, the tough publisher of the Los Angeles Tribune; Edward Asner (left) is Lou Grant, the new city editor; and Mason Adams is Charles Hume, the managing editor, in the new series, Lou Grant, premiering Tuesday, Sept. 20 (10-11 p.m., EDT) on CBS. Unlike The Mary Tyler Moore Show, from which this spins off, Lou Grant will be primarily a drama.

Growing Up: Donny and Marie Develop Their Show

By WINIFRED ELZE

Donny and Marie Osmond took time out from rehearsals to talk about the new look their next season of shows will have. Donny said the show would have "a lot different look. We'll keep the same format, it's not going to totally change. We're going to grow the show up and it'll be a lot more adult."

Marie - "Donny is 20 now and I'm 18. Our relationship with each other is more adult."

Donny - "We're not trying to prove we're grown up, we're just being ourselves. We have new interests now, dating and so on."

Marie - "Part of the show is that we talk to each other and that's what we talk about. My hair will be cut different. I went back to New York and had it cut. My costumes will have a different look . . . I think we've added a few things to the show."

Donny - "We're not trying to prove we're older, we're not trying to prove anything . . . we're not making any drastic changes."

Marie - "We've got something for absolutely everybody now . . . to appeal to ages 1 to 100."

Donny - "We don't want to lose the younger crowd."

Marie - "We have something for the younger kids and the older and the in-between. We're filling in the holes now."

Donny - "We want everybody."

Marie - "We can offer people what they want . . ."

Donny - "And we feel we can give it to them."

The show will keep many of its popular features. Jimmy Desmond will still do his solos, the Ice Vanities chorus and skating act will be retained, and comedian Paul Lynde will continue to make frequent guest star appearances.

Marie's hobbies include designing clothes. "I have done a few that we've used on the show and in concert . . . It's hard to find time to do things like that," she said. Marie describes her off-camera wardrobe as "very casual. I think simplicity is beautiful. Glitter is good for television but I think you should dress appropriately for whatever you're doing. I think a simple, well-cut dress is beautiful."

Asked what he wears off-camera, Donny said "I wear casual clothes around the studio."

Marie - "He always wears his purple socks."

Donny - "I'm never going to lose that. I don't like it when a person is sloppy and wears jeans all the time. I like to dress well, I don't like to be grubby - which is what I am right now."

Marie - "I've always loved clothes."

The Osmonds are building a new TV-motion picture studio near their hometown of Provo, Utah. Donny said, "We're in the process of building it now. All the brick is up. In November we start taping our show there. Our recording studio is there already; we'll be able to do everything from home. I was talking to Lucille Ball the other day and I asked her if she thought we'd have trouble getting top-name performers for our show if they had to come out to Utah and she said everybody in the industry is talking about it and wants to come out for a vacation. It's twenty minutes from Robert Redford's skiing resort, and we're building a private tennis club and racket ball club for our guests."

The studio will be suitable for film work as well as television. "Jimmy is doing a movie next month," Donny said, "And will shoot a little of it in the studio. Marie and I will be doing some movies."

Marie - "The Osmonds are very selfish . . ."

Donny - "We want to play a serious role. I don't want to do a Beatle-type thing."

Marie - "My brothers have done concerts and records, everything possible. Now we're going to get into movies."

Donny - "Donny and Marie's career is basically in TV right now. I have an album just out: the 'Donald Clark Osmond Album.'"

Marie - "It's very good, too."

The Osmonds haven't taken formal singing lessons. Donny said, "My brothers started to take singing lessons and it broke up their harmony. It made them all soloists. As we perform and associate with professionals in the business we talk to them and get advice from them. The same in recording sessions. I never really had music or voice lessons - or acting lessons. I once talked to an acting professor at Brigham Young College and he said the best acting is to be yourself."

Pro grid lover makes his picks

by PAUL ALEXANDER

I realize that the statement I am about to make will probably brand me forever as a subversive, a social deviant, a dangerous influence on the morals of American youth and possibly even a Communist. But even though the effect on my future could be devastating, I must confess to you now: I like professional football better than I like the college game.

I've heard all the conventional wisdom: that college football is "purer" than pro ball because there's no grubby money involved, that college football is more pristine because the players perform out of love for the game, that college football is more exciting because there are more plays per game. Horsefeathers.

I love college football, but the NFL is where it's at. My family coat of arms should be the NFL emblem. I want to be buried at Texas Stadium during halftime at a Cowboy-Redskin game, with the Cowboy cheerleaders serving as my pallbearers.

So, for me, the football season officially starts Sunday with the opening of championship play in the NFL. In this first week of "playing for keeps" here is a rundown of who will win and why.

DALLAS at Minnesota — The Cowboys have won their last 12 season openers and they'll win this one, too. Dallas has a history of playing well in the North Country (witness the 1975 first round playoff game), and, for once, the weather in Bloomington won't be a factor. The Cowboys will roll up about 400 yards total offense against the aging Purple Gang, while the Vikings will have little or no success moving the ball on the ground. Cowboys 24, Vikings 13.

BALTIMORE at Seattle — The Colts will be hopping mad after last week's preseason loss to Tampa Bay, and the young Seahawks will have to pay for Baltimore's ire. Seattle has surprised in exhibition play, but there'll be no surprises this time. Colts 38, Seahawks 14.

Cleveland at CINCINNATI — This could be one of the better games in the league this week. It's certainly an important one, since the Browns and Bengals reside in the same division. Cleveland returned to respectability last year, while only a late season collapse kept Cincinnati out of the playoffs. The Bengals have easily been the league's most impressive team in the preseason, and Coach Bill Johnson's club will get off on the right foot in their bid to take the AFC Central title away from the Steelers. Bengals 27, Browns 10.

DETROIT at Chicago — Everyone is saying that the Bears will win their first divisional title since 1963. Don't believe it. Lions 17, Bears 14 in an upset.

Green Bay at NEW ORLEANS — Can you believe that the Saints were 5-1 in preseason play? Well, believe it, because New Orleans could be the most improved team in the NFC. Chuck Muncie and Tony Galbreath are potentially the best tandem of running backs in football. Green Bay is football's answer to Appalachia. Saints 31, Packers 17.

Kansas City at NEW ENGLAND — Even if holdout linemen John Hannah and Leon Gray don't return to the fold, the Patriots are one of the truly awesome outfits in pro ball. Pats 27, Chiefs 10.

LOS ANGELES at Atlanta — Don't be fooled by the Rams' lousy preseason mark. The Rams have some problems, but nothing that can't be worked out. Pat Haden will start at QB for Los Angeles, but Joe Willie Namath may have to bail the Rams out. Atlanta's meager prospects could get even bleaker if something happens to quarterback Steve Bartkowski's frail knees. Rams 20, Falcons 13.

MIAMI at Buffalo — The Dolphins are a long way from their glory of season's past, but the Bills are a long way from resembling a football team. Not even O.J. can save Buffalo this time. Dolphins 27, Bills 17.

New York Jets at

HOUSTON — It's hard to predict from one week to the next how the Oilers are going to play, but at least the Jets are consistent; they always stink. Oilers 31, Jets 10.

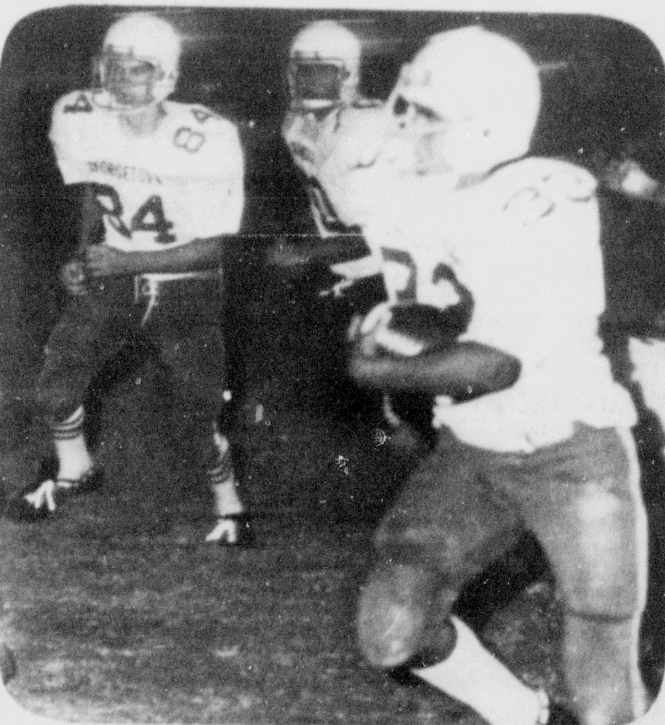

St. Louis at DENVER — This game is as close to a tossup as there is in the NFL this week. But judging from recent performances, I have to go with the Broncos, if only because they're playing at home. Good chance for the Cowboys to get the jump on St. Louis. Broncos 17, Cards 14.

San Diego at OAKLAND — Are you kidding? The Raiders will beat the Chargers like a yard dog. Raiders 38, Chargers 13.

Tampa Bay at PHILADELPHIA — The Bucs will keep their dubious record intact; they'll still be looking for their first regular season victory in the history of the franchise. The Eagles, meanwhile, are going to slip up on some folks this year. Eagles 21, Bucs 7.

WASHINGTON at New York Giants — This will be the year that George Allen's "Over the Hill Gang" finally dies of old age. But even the ancient Redskins are good enough to beat the Giants, who don't have anybody on their roster who can do a decent impersonation of an NFL quarterback. Redskins 24, Giants 6.

San Francisco at PITTSBURGH (Monday night) — We'll have plenty of opportunities to enjoy Dandy Don Meredith's return to Monday Night Football; this game will be such a dud that the Danderoo can sing "I Didn't Know the Lord Made Honkey-Tonk Angels" to his heart's content. Raiders 41, 49ers 10.

TEN YARDS FOR GEORGETOWN is what Abel Zavala's burst down the sideline results in. The action occurred in the Georgetown Junior Varsity's 15-6 victory over the Leander JV Thursday night in Leander. Providing a shield of blockers for Zavala are Todd Landry, number 84, and Jeff Laughry, number 80.

Pirates defeat St. Edward's

Southwestern University opened its women's volleyball season here Thursday by defeating St. Edward's 15-8, 15-12, and 15-8.

The Pirates, who play the University of Texas and Texas A&I in Georgetown Tuesday, played before a crowd of highly partisan fans who saw their team come from behind in all three games to win.

In the second game the Bucs trailed, 9-0 when senior Janice Doughty came off the bench to start scoring points with her serves. She led the team in the rally to nip the Hilltoppers.

Coach Glada Munt, who led Southwestern to a 21-11 record last year, named sophomore Tracy Strane as the outstanding offensive player and praised the play of several freshmen, especially Terry Gawlik, another player who came off the bench to lead the team.

Munt started three freshmen — Mary Klar and Loretta Deason of New Brunfels and Tina LaFuernte of Austin — and also played Gawlik a great deal as she tried to give the newcomers some experience before taking on Texas and A&I here Tuesday.

Other starters included Strane, Melissa Hardberger and Sharon Eoff while Doughty and Carol Sheffield also saw action.

The three-team contest with UT and A&I will begin at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in Jim West Gym at Southwestern.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

By Wilbur Callaway

The Fred Akers Era got off to a booming start last weekend at Memorial Stadium in Austin as the Texas Longhorns stamped outlasted Boston College 44-0, but don't be misled into thinking the 'Horns are an authentic National Championship contender.

Apparently one Eastern writer must think so, because after watching the massacre, he cast his vote this week for 18th-ranked Texas to be No. 1 team in the nation. However, I don't think even the most avid orange-bloods would go that far at this stage of the season.

True, Texas did romp and stomp on the visiting Eagles, but I've seen a lot of Longhorn teams over the years and this 1977 version doesn't look like one of the better ones — yet. The 'Horns are young and have a long way to go before they become a national contender and it probably won't be this season.

Boston College was just simply a weak opponent. The Eagles looked downright pathetic at times and it made observers wonder how BC ever managed to beat Texas last year. Obviously, the Eagles lost a lot of good players from their 1976 team, because the club they fielded last week would have trouble beating TCU, much less Texas.

Several of the Longhorns admitted in the dressing room after the game that they were "psyched up" for this one, not only because they had lost to Boston College last year, but also because they wanted Akers to get off to a winning start in his first game as coach at Texas after replacing living legend Darrell Royal.

Earl Campbell, the much-heralded Texas running back, said, "We're gonna be like a snowball — we're just gonna get bigger and better each week." Maybe so, Earl, and I sure wouldn't argue the point with you, but this is one writer who isn't convinced yet.

More than likely, Texas' second game of the season, against Virginia at Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon, will wind up about the same way as the Boston College farce. How Texas ever managed to get a couple of patsies like BC and Virginia to open the campaign, I'll never understand. Seems like the 'Horns used to open against people like Southern California, UCLA, etc.

Anyway, Texas should have little trouble being 3-0 when the 'Horns take on Oklahoma Oct. 8 in Dallas. After Virginia, Texas is open Sept. 24 and then plays Rice in Austin Oct. 1 and shouldn't break much of a sweat against the Owls.

But when OU comes along — that's when we'll find out just how good Texas really is, and if the Longhorns belong in the national rankings.

While Texas enjoying its Boston Tea Party last week, several other members of the SWC got off to rousing starts. Seventh-ranked Texas A&M whipped Kansas 28-14, eighth-ranked Texas Tech thumped Baylor 17-7, ninth-ranked Houston nipped UCLA 17-13, SMU buried TCU 45-21, Rice crushed Idaho 31-10 and Arkansas smashed New Mexico State 53-10.

Saturday's schedule, in addition to the Texas-Virginia mismatch, had Oklahoma State at Arkansas, Kentucky at Baylor, Houston at Penn State, Florida at Rice, New Mexico at Texas Tech, North Texas at SMU, Texas A&M at Virginia Tech and Oregon at TCU.

The Dallas Cowboys, finishing 3-3 in the preseason exhibition games and riding the momentum of last week's 30-0 rout of the Pittsburgh Steelers, open their regular season schedule Sunday at Minnesota.

The Cowboys have won 12 consecutive season openers, dating back to 1964 and a 16-6 loss to Saint Louis, and have lost only three season openers in their 17-year history.

In addition, Dallas has beaten Minnesota six of the nine times have met over the years and the Cowboys are 3-1 over the Vikings in games played in Minnesota. The Cowboys enter the 1977 season as the winningest team in professional football over the past 11 seasons with a 112-40-2 mark for that stretch of years, including 11-3 last season when they won the NFC Eastern Division crown.

Dallas has an overall record of 137-93-6 since the Cowboys came in to existence back in 1960 and also boasts of a unique distinction — only one head coach, Tom Landry, during the entire history of the team.

Last week I wrote that Chip Shell had raked writer Paul Alexander, who does a weekly sports column for the SUN, over the coals but this week Paul gets some praise from another Georgetown citizen, Mike Davis of Rt. 1, Box 133.

Davis says he thoroughly enjoyed a recent column by Alexander in which the writer tells how shocked he was over the Cowboys' loss to the Houston Oilers. Davis says he had to suppress a number of spontaneous chuckles caused by Alexander's sharp and to the point wit.

So, it appears that what is one man's pleasure is another man's poison, or something like that.

Eagles slug Leander

Georgetown football teams had a field day Thursday against Leander, winning six games and tying one, and no Eagle team had yet lost a game heading into the Friday night varsity clash between teams from the two schools at Eagle Field.

The Eagle Junior Varsity "A" team won 15-6, the Junior Varsity "B" team took a 20-0 victory, the Freshmen escaped by 24-22, the Eighth Grade "A" team won 24-8, the Eighth Grade "B" team took a 20-0 victory, the Seventh Grade "A" team romped by 36-0 and the Seventh Grade "B" team tied Leander 0-0.

Going into the Friday night varsity game, Georgetown teams boasted a record of 12 wins, no losses and three ties for the season.

Eddie Valdez scored on runs of 15 and 50 yards, Bruce Allamon kicked an extra point and Ricky Coulson passed to Randy Smith for a conversion to spark the Junior Varsity "A" team's win. Able Zavala, Mike Whitman, Clay Noren and Gabriel Dominguez stood out on defense.

Charles Ashby scored on runs of 30 and 25 yards, Allen Ashby tallied on a 70-yard punt return and Edward Valdez kicked two extra points for the Junior Varsity "B" team. Randy Hughes and Todd Allen sparkled on defense while QB Lance Shillingburg looked good running the team and Valdez punted well.

In the Freshman contest, Mike King scored on a six-yard run, Tommy Long tallied on runs of 10 and six yards, Tony Metoyer scored from 30 yards out and the defense saved the victory as it held Leander for five downs on the one-yard line as the clock ran out at the end of the game.

The Eighth Grade "A" team fell behind in the opening minutes as Leander ran the kickoff back to the Eagle 15 and pushed in a quick touchdown, but Doug Jackson scored twice on runs of 15 and 60 yards and QB James Crowder tallied on an eight-yard keeper with Gilbert Valdez and Jackson running for conversions to give the Eagles the victory.

Merardo Salazar scored on runs of three and 40 yards and also ran over a conversion while Jesse Bracamontez scored on a 20-yard run to pace the Eighth Grade "B" team's win.

Lyndon Jefferson scored three touchdowns on runs of 20, 20 and 55 yards and also ran two conversions to spark the Seventh Grade "A" team to a 30-0 halftime lead. QB Brent Bazaar got the other two touchdowns on runs of 13 and 15 yards, the last one coming on the final play of the game. Eric Acosta ran one conversion.

Volleyball teams facing Dragons

Georgetown High School's girls volleyball team, after two straight wins over Killeen, hopes to get off to a winning start Monday night as the Eagles take on Round Rock's Dragons in Round Rock in their District 12AAA opener.

Coach Sue Davidson's team lost its opener to Austin LBJ 5-15, 13-15, but bounced back to beat Killeen 15-13, 11-15, 15-13 in Georgetown and then journeyed to Killeen and took a 14-16, 15-0, 15-10 decision earlier this week.

"Melinda Toliver was the high point server in the second meeting with Killeen," Davidson said. "She served 13 straight points in our 15-0 second game win. Our high point spikers were Ozella Sedwick and Lori Glass."

Other members of the Eagle varsity team include all-district returnee Linda McCalla, honorable mention all-district player Jan Wakefield, Terrie Fletcher, Patricia Thomas, Betty Jo Miranda, Leslie Austin, Paula Lawhon and Hattie Brooks.

The Eagles will meet Round Rock's varsity at 6 p.m., following a 5 p.m. clash between the Georgetown and Round Rock Junior Varsity teams.

Georgetown's JV team is currently 2-1 for the season, having beaten Austin LBJ and split with Killeen. The Eagle JVs beat LBJ 15-10, 15-1 before losing to Killeen 11-15, 8-15. They bounced back this week to beat Killeen 15-9, 15-13.

Members of the JV team are Tina Noren, Jan Whitfield, Diane Thomas, Denise Bartos, Lisa Wakefield, Darla Anderson, Libis Morse, Colette Cuddles, Bridget Cuddles, Penny Jones, Carole Grohman, Carolyn Kotrla, Joan Vanisko, Cynthia Taylor, Sonja Knauth, Amy Robertson and Janet Wenzel.

Following the games with Round Rock, Georgetown will host Taylor Wednesday with the JV game starting at 5 p.m. and the varsity game at 6 p.m.

EAGLE VARSITY — Members of the Georgetown High School Varsity volleyball team, which opens its district schedule Monday at Round Rock, are left to right, Terrie Fletcher, Jan Wakefield, Melinda Toliver, Patricia Thomas, Linda McCalla, Lori Glass, Ozella Sedwick, Betty Jo Miranda, Leslie Austin, Paula Lawhon and Hattie Brooks. The Eagles are 2-1 for the season so far.

Who is at the Helm?

Who guides our lives? Are we a ship without a helmsman? Are we adrift, going no place?

Thanks be to God, who loves us so, He is willing to guide us, to show us the way over all manner of seas. How glorious to know there is such a One! All of us follow someone, some standard, but the true standard is God and His Word.

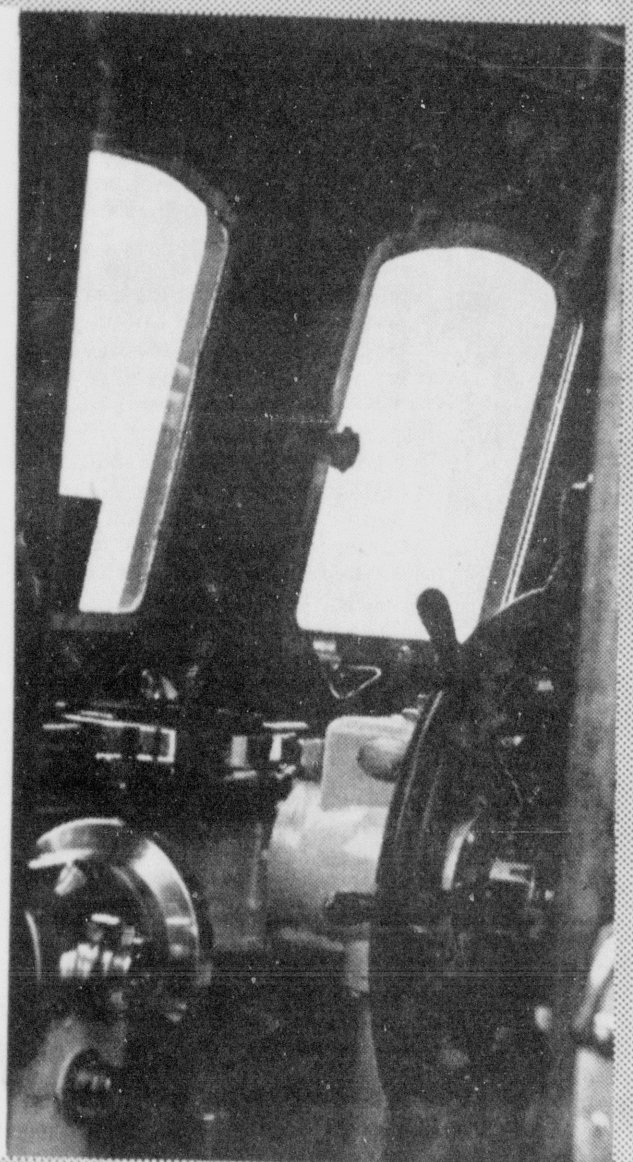

Let Him take over the wheel. He doesn't promise smooth sailing all the time, but He promises to guide us through the storm, and show us the way over calm and sweet but sometimes marker-less seas.

"And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make fat thy bones; and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water whose waters fail not."

Isaiah 58:11

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Panther Homecoming to be celebrated

Ex-students of Liberty Hill High School will be gathering again on Friday, September 23, for the school's annual Homecoming.

Festivities will begin at 6 p.m. with supper being served in the high school cafeteria. The meal will be followed by the homecoming football game at which the Panthers will host the Hippos of Hutto High School.

Half-time activities will focus on the crowning of the 1977 Homecoming Queen and exes from the honor years of 1917, 1927, 1937, 1947, 1957 and 1967 will be presented for recognition.

A musical tribute will be presented by the Panther Band.

At 6 p.m. Saturday,

September 24, all ex-students can be entertained at a social, followed by the business meeting and the presentation of last year's exes football game.

Thanks to you it works...

Liberty Hill NEWS

By Howard N. Wilson

There is a definite increase in the traffic in our town, just as there is in other rapidly growing communities. This subject was discussed quite thoroughly Thursday morning on "Morning Breakaway." We must all be very conscious of the increase and be ever alert so we will maintain safety for all of our drivers, as well as our pedestrians, in which school students and other members of the community are included. Let's all be very careful at all times — the life you save could be your own!

The Liberty Hill Ex-Student Association, especially President Jean Jay, Melba Lackey and several others, is very busy making preparations for this year's Ex-Student Homecoming.

There will be a catered supper served in the school cafeteria before the Homecoming football game between the Hutto Hippos and the Liberty Hill Panthers. During the half-time there will be the traditional coronation ceremonies with the crowning of the Queen for this year and other related activities featuring the Panther Band. Incidentally, the Homecoming game will be played on Friday evening, September 23, starting at 8 p.m. All graduates from the years ending in seven will receive special recognition during the half-time.

On Saturday evening, September 24, beginning at 6 p.m. there will be a social time, followed by the business meeting and the showing of the film of last year's Exes Game. Beginning at 8 p.m. this year's Exes football game will begin. All Ex-Cheerleaders are urged to bring their old uniforms and perform. Be sure to make plans now to attend this year's Homecoming — we want to see you there!

The Liberty Hill Booster Club is sponsoring the Barbecue Supper which will be served on September 23, starting at 6 p.m. in the school cafeteria. For only $3 for grownups and $2 for children under twelve, each person will be served all he can eat. The menu includes barbecue beef and sausage, beans, potato salad, cole slaw, and ice tea — this is an unbeatable bargain! Everyone who intends to eat at the school should contact Bobby Brown at 778-5259 or Wendell McLeod at 778-5046, so the caterer will have a reasonable estimate of the number to plan for.

The Drill Team for the Liberty Hill High School elected officers on September 13. They are major — Annette Milligan; co-captain — Natha Wetzel and Linda Hernandez; and lieutenant — Janice Johns. The Drill Team will have their first performance at the Homecoming game Friday evening, September 23, and they will perform again on the following evening, September 24, at the Exes football game. The Liberty Hill Drill Team is under the direction of Jinny Hurley.

The next regular meeting of the Liberty Hill Band Parents will be held at the school band hall on Monday, September 19, starting at

Certificates given by Cancer Society

Certificates of appreciation were handed out Tuesday night to a number of people and organizations who played key roles in the recent American Cancer Society Fund Drive in Williamson County.

A party, complete with ice cream and cake, was held at the Wesleyan Home along with the presentation of the certificates by Mrs. Martha Hollan, President of the Northwest Williamson County unit of the ACS.

Mrs. Hollan pointed out that the 1977 drive went over the top, taking in over $8,000. This was better than $1,300 more than had been planned, but next year's goal is going to be set at $10,000.

The certificates were given to the Williamson County Sun and radio station KGTN for publicity about the fund drive, as well as to Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Salyer, Mrs. Louise Loyd, Mrs. Betty Parsons (who was head of the Crusade in Georgetown last year), Mrs. Jewel Carter (Williamson County Crusade Chairman), Mrs. Viola Honeycutt (Memorial Chairman), Mrs. Ann McKay (Treasurer), Miss Pearl Munson, Mrs. Dorrae Hodges, Mr. R. L. Oswald (who will be Williamson County Chairman next year), Mrs. Ben Jacobs of Andice and Miss Elizabeth Fox, who has been Public Information Chairman for several years prior to her recent retirement and move from Georgetown.

Incoming officers for the coming year include Mrs. Douglas Benold (Secretary), Mr. and Mrs. Salyer (Information Chairpersons), Dr. Douglas Benold (Medical Chairman), Mrs. Esther Weir (Public Education Chairman), Mrs. Elmer Pate (Service and Rehabilitation Chairman), and Mrs. William Morse (Vice-President).

Personal

Donald Starkey, on leave from the Navy, visited his mother Mrs. Anna Faye Starkey and grandmother Mrs. Lena Fulton, for a week and a half in Georgetown in August.

Starkey is living in Lemoure, California and will be going back to sea on the U.S.S. Enterprise next April.

MAKE IT SPICY!

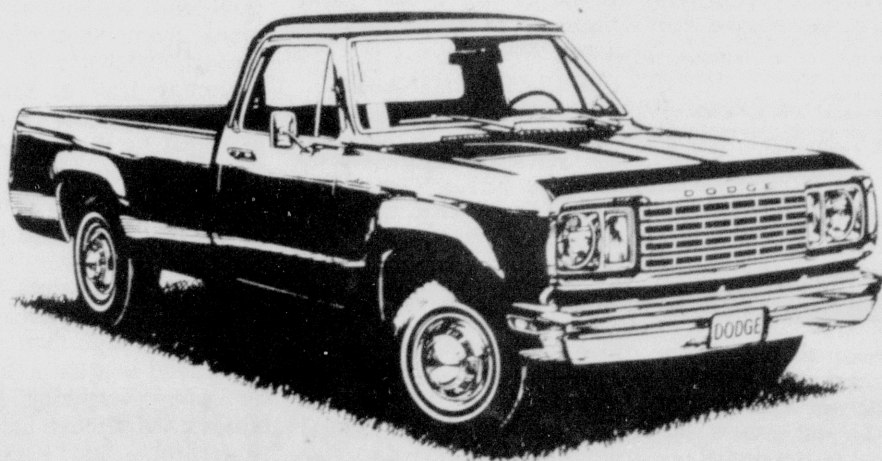

SPICED JELLIED PEACHES

- 1 can (17 oz.) sliced peaches
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 12 whole cloves
- 1 cinnamon stick
- 1 package (3 oz.) orange or peach flavor gelatin

Drain peaches, measuring syrup. Add water to syrup to make 1-3/4 cups. Dice the peaches. Combine measured liquid, vinegar and spices in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. Strain, discarding spices. Dissolve gelatin in hot liquid. Chill until slightly thickened. Stir in peaches and pour into individual molds. Chill until firm, about 3 hours. Unmold. Serve on crisp lettuce, if desired. Makes 2-3/4 cups or 5 or 6 servings.

Wilson attends school before new assignment

Sheriff's Deputy Jim Wilson is attending a two week school on narcotics investigation at the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin.

THE 80 HOUR course is sponsored by the DPS and the federal Drug Enforcement Agency.

At the completion of the course, Wilson's primary assignment will be as a criminal investigator, said Chief Deputy Jim Boutwell.

"With the growth of the county and the growth of crime, the Sheriff's Department needs to put more emphasis on criminal investigation," said Boutwell.

"IT HURTS to have a deputy gone for two weeks, but it pays off in the long run," said Boutwell, adding that the Sheriff's Department hopes to make more training available to deputies.

"We are trying to get the most from our available manpower," said Boutwell. "Routine patrols are being shifted toward areas we know have problems, and on-the-scene investigations will be in more depth."

Registration scheduled for Community Education

If you want to learn more about belly dancing, cake decorating, motorcycle safety and repair, bridge, or a number of other interesting subjects, the Community Education program from the Georgetown Independent School District is for you.

Community Education is a program in the GISD curriculum offering instructive and interesting classes for adults. Karen McAden, director of the program, described it as "an in-depth involvement of individuals and of agencies, groups, organizations and institutions in the community."

It is a concept that serves the entire community, she added, by providing for all of the educational needs of all its community by using local schools to "serve as the catalyst" in bringing community resources to bear on community problems.

"It is the return of the 'little red school house' concept of learning," Mrs. McAden said, "and once again the school is becoming the meeting place for a good feeling about the schools and governmental activities."

"Our logo is the umbrella," the director explained, "because an umbrella is something that covers us and protects us. In Community Education the umbrella is formed by the marshaling of resources and the resulting cooperation and coordination, in effect, forms an umbrella over the community."

Community Education classes will begin at the Georgetown High School on Monday, October 3, and such subjects are being offered as Powder-Puff Mechanics, the lost art of Tinting, Scottish Dance, Slimnastics, Home Repairs and Small Appliance Repairs, Auto Mechanics, Clerical (includes typing, bookkeeping and clerical practices) sewing, butchering and carpentry.

There will also be a welding class, General Education Diploma geared classes, English, conversational Spanish, naked-eye Astronomy, Modeling and Self-improvement, Football Fundamentals, Hand-crafted Pottery, Crocheting, Gardening, Guitar, Tennis, Needlepoint and Card Pulmonary Resuscitation.

Registration for the adult classes will be held in the Community Education office at Georgetown High School from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. September 28, 29 and 30 and from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. September 28 only.

Mrs. McAden stressed that classes will be limited in enrollment and will be filled on a first-come basis as registration forms and fees are involved.

RIBBON CUTTING — Superintendent Jack Frost "cuts the ribbon" on the Community Education program getting underway at GHS. GISD curriculum director Donna Gage, Community Education advisory board member Pat Crowley, Frost and Director of Community Education Karen McAden are getting ready for class registration September 28, 29 and 30.

Wesleyan News

BY PAGE McDONALD

Jane Reynolds will be out of town for about ten days so you will have to put up with me. It will be difficult to fill her place. In our next issue I expect to have some special news.

I visited with Mrs. Mattie Loventhal yesterday. She is one of our newer residents, but she has lived in Georgetown a long time. She taught school in a small building which stood on the spot where our Wesleyan kitchen now stands. Mattie had so much to tell me that we almost forgot that it was supper time hour.

Because she had taught math we have elected her to be treasurer of our Friendship Club. It is a BIG job. Our total balance is $17.03. None of us can really tell from whence it comes. It just seems to dribble in. We do not need much because whenever we ask for scraps, yarn, hose, lap robes, etc. folks from everywhere give us what we need. We count ourselves fortunate to live among so many generous people.

Rev. C. C. McKinney led our morning devotional

Wednesday and Rev. Lynn Tusha spoke to us Wednesday evening. This means so much to many of us who cannot get out to service elsewhere.

On Monday night Mrs. Reynolds showed us a beautiful film strip on Japan.

The Suzannah Wesley circle met in the Festival Room. Mrs. Melvora Hodges is the new chairman. This first meeting of the season was more of a social occasion with Mrs. B. F. Jackson serving the refreshments. Mrs. George McCrary gave a short devotional.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Perry of Waco and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Elam of Lubbock came to tour our home.

Mrs. Effie Labenski had a round of company on Sunday. They were part of the Robins family reunion. They were Mr. and Mrs. Riley Robins and family from Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Robbins of Baytown and Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Hick of San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. John Brady of Houston have also visited her.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Perry of Austin, friends of Grafton

Griffin, had dinner with him Saturday.

We welcome Mrs. Anna Mae Greene, a long time resident of Georgetown to our home.

Mrs. Lettye Hester has just finished two walker bags, one for Anna Mae Greene and one for Edna Grimes, who recently broke her leg.

Amy Faubian and Lettye Hester have made a number of walker bags and we have been fortunate in finding among the materials given us for lap robes material that was more suitable for bags or walker pockets as some call them.

Grace Tapp's sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Hall, Jr., came from Longview to see her.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Tegge of Beeville visited with Mrs. Stella Tegge.

The Calvin Blacks from Bremond came to spend a while with Mrs. Ethel Weaver.

Rev. C. C. McKinney, Mrs. Mae Bowman and Mrs. Lula Ogg spent a day visiting with several of their friends in the Buchanan Lake area.

Young Homemakers set meeting

The Georgetown Chapter of Young Homemakers of Texas is part of a statewide organization under the direction of the Texas Education Agency. Part of this same program are the Future Homemakers of America.

Established for the young women of Texas between the ages of 18 and 35, the motto of the organization is "Young Homemakers — Heart of the Home." Each member finds fulfillment in the areas of personal development, family development and understanding, community activities, and an introduction to all aspects of life that pertain to being a woman.

The Georgetown Chapter was established in 1964. This year the members will have programs in the fields of arts and crafts, antiques, exercising, and child guidance. The October 4 meeting will feature Judge William Lott and a program entitled "Legal Rights of Women."

Each year the Young Homemakers sponsor the free eyetesting clinic for preschool age children under the direction of the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness. The last two years the members have also helped to provide needed items for the junior and senior high school homemaking departments. Previous projects include playground equipment for the parks and March of Dimes.

During Young Homemakers of Texas week of September 19-23, we cordially invite any young woman to join us at our Tuesday, October 4, meeting at 7:30 p.m. at Stonehaven Center.

If you would like further information, please call Joy Bohanan at 863-5752 or Joyce Anderson at 863-5653 after 6 p.m.

County to appoint new members for Welfare Board

County Commissioners will consider the appointment of new Child Welfare Board members when they meet on Monday, September 19.

Commissioners will also: • Hear a report on Child Welfare Board. • Consider selling surplus marble slab. • Consider the Sheriff's request to appoint a new Deputy Sheriff and reserve Deputies.

Commissioners will meet at 10 a.m. on the first floor of the courthouse in Georgetown.

SWT alumni set meeting

A meeting of the Capital Area Southwest Texas State University Alumni Chapter is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at Westlake Beach, 2509 Westlake Drive.

The Capital Area Chapter includes SWT alumni in Travis, Bastrop and Williamson Counties.

Admission is $2 per person, and refreshments will be served. Activities such as swimming, volleyball and horseshoes are planned, and alumni are invited to bring the entire family.

SWT faculty, students and alumni will attend the meeting. Among the featured guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Bill Deck, Alumni Association president and his wife.

For further information, call Dorothy Depwe at 327-9004, Virginia Anderson at 345-1754, Walter Richter at 454-0311 or the SWT Alumni Office at 245-2371.

Home Demo Club meets

The Riverside Home Demonstration Club met Thursday, September 8, in the home of Lynada Sybert for the first meeting of the summer.

Fourteen members and one guest, Mrs. Faubion, answered roll call with "why I don't miss a club meeting."

Club members voted to continue the Buchanan Dam retreat held each year.

Future meetings which were announced include the County Fair to be held at Stonehaven Center, October 18, and the meeting to be held in Taylor November 12 for installation of officers.

Lavern Faubion gave the program which was on "Family Tree." It was very interesting and informative.

The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by the hosts.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Olea Ischy Thursday, September 22, at 2 p.m.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue: La enmienda constitucional aumentará el número de miembros de la Corte de Apelación Criminal a nueve jueces, y permitiendo que la Corte sesione en paneles de tres miembros.

PROPOSICION No. 2 EN LA BOLETA (S.J.R. 13)

S.J.R. 13 propone una enmienda a la Constitución que suministraría 200 millones de dólares más en bonos u obligaciones del Estado de Texas para el Fondo de Tierras de Veteranos y que permitiría a viudas sobrevivientes de veteranos comprar terrenos bajo ciertas circunstancias.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue: La enmienda constitucional para suministrar 200 millones de dólares más en bonos u obligaciones del Estado de Texas para el Fondo de Tierras de Veteranos y para permitir que viudas sobrevivientes de veteranos compren terrenos bajo ciertas circunstancias.

PROPOSICION No. 3 EN LA BOLETA (S.J.R. 3)

Bajo las leyes actuales de Texas se le puede negar fianza a una persona acusada de un delito mayor que previamente ha sido probado culpable de dos delitos mayores. La S.J.R. 3 propone una enmienda a la Constitución de Texas que también acabaría en denegación de fianza, durante un tiempo limitado y sujeto a apelación, a una persona acusada de cometer un delito mayor mientras estaba bajo fianza por un delito mayor previo por el cual la persona ha sido acusada por gran jurado, o acusada de un delito mayor implicando el uso de una arma mortífera después de haber sido probada culpable de un delito mayor previo.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

La enmienda constitucional permitiendo denegación de fianza a una persona acusada de un delito mayor que ha sido probada culpable dos veces previas de un delito mayor, o acusada de un delito mayor cometido durante el tiempo que dicha persona estaba liberada bajo fianza por procesamiento de un delito mayor previo, o acusada de un crimen implicando el uso de una arma mortífera y cuando hay evidencia que tal persona ha sido probada culpable de un delito mayor previo disponiendo un límite de sesenta (60) días de encarcelación sin juicio de tal persona; y disponiendo el derecho de apelación de dicha persona.

PROPOSICION No. 4 EN LA BOLETA (S.J.R. 5)

S.J.R. 5 propone una enmienda a la Constitución de Texas que autorizaría la legislatura conceder exenciones u otros remedios de impuestos ad valorem sobre propiedad designada para la preservación de recursos culturales, históricos o de historia natural.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue: La enmienda constitucional autorizando una baja de impuestos con fines de preservar ciertos recursos culturales, históricos o de historia natural.

PROPOSICION No. 5 EN LA BOLETA (S.J.R. 19)

S.J.R. 19 propone una enmienda a la Constitución de Texas autorizando la formación de asociaciones autorizadas para coleccionar ciertos impuestos reembolsables de productores de aves de corral, ganado, y otros productos crudos agrícolas o marinos y validando la ley de 1967, con respecto a la formación de tales asociaciones.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

La enmienda constitucional autorizando la formación de asociaciones agrícolas o marinas que podrán asignar por mandato la colección de impuestos reembolsables para el mejoramiento de la producción, venta y compra, o uso de sus productos.

PROPOSICION No. 6 EN LA BOLETA (S.J.R. 49)

S.J.R. 49 propone una enmienda a la Constitución de Texas que permite la legislatura autorizar bancos estatales y nacionales para ejercer privilegios de banco mediante el uso de aparatos electrónicos o máquinas situadas en tales lugares como podrá disponer la ley y que autorizaría los bancos repartir tales aparatos electrónicos o máquinas de un modo razonable no distintivo.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue:

La enmienda constitucional para dar a la legislatura el poder de autorizar a los bancos estatales y nacionales para ejercer privilegios de banco y descuento mediante el uso de aparatos electrónicos o máquinas.

PROPOSICION No. 7 EN LA BOLETA (S.J.R. 30)

S.J.R. 30 propone una enmienda a la Constitución de Texas que cambiaría el nombre de la Comisión Estatal de Capacidades Judiciales a la Comisión Estatal Sobre Conducta Judicial y haría varios cambios con respecto a sus poderes y procedimientos. El cambio más significativo autorizaría la Comisión para suspender de cargo los jueces bajo procesamiento.

La terminología de la enmienda propuesta como aparecerá en la boleta es como sigue: La enmienda constitucional cambiando el nombre de la Comisión Estatal de Capacidades Judiciales a la Comisión Estatal Sobre Conducta Judicial, y perteneciendo a la comisión y a los poderes y actos de la comisión, con un oficial judicial nombrado por la Corte Suprema, y la Corte Suprema, o los jueces de la Corte de Apelación Civil sirviendo en lugar de la Corte Suprema, para la suspensión, censura, deposición, o retiro involuntario de un juez, o juez de paz bajo ciertas circunstancias.

PUBLIC NOTICE

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOV. 8, 1977

NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 18)

S.J.R. 18 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to provide for expanding the Court of Criminal Appeals from its current membership of five judges to nine judges and to permit the court to sit in panels of three judges.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment increasing the size of the Court of Criminal Appeals to nine judges, and permitting the court to sit in panels of three judges."

NUMBER TWO ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 13)

S.J.R. 13 proposes a constitutional amendment to provide for an additional $200 million in bonds or obligations of the State of Texas for the Veterans' Land Fund and to allow surviving widows of veterans to purchase tracts under certain circumstances.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to provide for an additional $200 million in bonds or obligations of the State of Texas for the Veterans' Land Fund and to allow surviving widows of veterans to purchase tracts under certain circumstances."

NUMBER THREE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 3)

Under current Texas law a person charged with a felony offense who has previously been convicted of two felony offenses may be denied bail. S.J.R. 3 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution which would also result in the denial of bail, for a limited time and subject to appeal, to a person accused of committing a felony while on bail for a prior felony for which the person has been indicted, or accused of a felony involving the use of a deadly weapon after being convicted of a prior felony.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment permitting denial of bail to a person charged with a felony offense who has been theretofore twice convicted of a felony offense, or charged with a felony offense committed while that person was admitted to bail on a prior felony indictment, or charged with a crime involving the use of a deadly weapon where there is evidence such person has been convicted of a prior felony offense; providing for a 60-day limit to that person's incarceration without trial; and providing for that person's right of appeal."

NUMBER FOUR ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 5)

S.J.R. 5 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution authorizing the legislature to grant exemptions or other relief from ad valorem taxes on property designated for the preservation of cultural, historical or natural history resources.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing tax relief to preserve certain cultural, historical, or natural history resources."

NUMBER FIVE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 19)

S.J.R. 19 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution authorizing the formation of associations authorized to collect certain refundable assessments from producers of poultry, livestock, and other raw agricultural or marine products and validating the 1967 law regarding the formation of such associations.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the formation of agricultural or marine associations which may mandate the collection of refundable assessments for improvement of production, marketing, or use of their products."

NUMBER SIX ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 49)

S.J.R. 49 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to permit the legislature to authorize state and national banks to exercise banking privileges by use of electronic devices or machines located at such places as may be provided by law and authorize the sharing of such electronic devices or machines among banks on a reasonable, non-discriminatory basis.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to give the legislature the power to authorize state and national banks to exercise banking and discounting privileges by use of electronic devices or machines."

NUMBER SEVEN ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 30)

S.J.R. 30 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution changing the name of the State Judicial Qualifications Commission to the State Commission on Judicial Conduct and making several changes in its powers and procedures. The most significant change would authorize the Commission to suspend from office judges and justices under indictment.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment changing the name of the State Judicial Qualifications Commission to the State Commission on Judicial Conduct, and relating to the commission and the powers and proceedings of the commission, a master, and the supreme court, or court of civil appeals justices serving in place of the supreme court, for the suspension, censure, removal, or involuntary retirement of a justice, judge, or justice of the peace under certain circumstances."

Farmers, ranchers planning protest

Focusing their ongoing protest efforts on Texas government, farmers and ranchers suffering from depressed market conditions will bring a tractor convoy into the state capital Tuesday morning, September 20.

"There's a mood in the country," says Edward Gonzenbach, Travis County Farmers Union President. "We're putting away our political and organizational differences and uniting all farmers and ranchers under one cause — justice in the form of price for our product. Farmers will never get a fair shake until farmers themselves get together and gain government's attention as well as obtain their own bargaining power."

The protest comes during the worst year for average farm prices since March of 1933. The U. S. Department of Agriculture also cites a severe credit crisis in nine farming states where one out of ten farmers will not find refinancing available due to the bad risk factors in agriculture.

"We'll lose two or three thousand farmers this year in Texas alone," says Marilyn Samuelson, a co-organizer of the protest in Travis County and a farm wife from Coupland. "Our state leaders have noted our Depression in speeches here and there, especially before farm groups. But we have yet to see anyone stand up and yell for agriculture like they have for international affairs and energy problems. We think putting food in people's mouths should be just as important as putting gas in Winnegagos!"

Surpluses of wheat and feed grains, added to the continuing problems in the cattle industry, are the primary factors in the depressed market. Congress tries to answer some of those problems by sending a new multi-year farm bill to President Carter's desk this week.

"The farm bill is nothing more than special interest legislation written especially for the trade groups and the budget balancers," states David Samuelson, a Coupland farmer. "What we need is bargaining power in the marketplace. We want fair prices for our raw products and not subsidies. If American and Canada decided on a fair price for wheat on the world market, then we could balance the trade deficits we face due to the oil nations. In both domestic and foreign markets, American farmers should and could get their fair share if they would only get together."

The tractor and truck convoy has marked its protest route out of Pflugerville, heading toward Austin along the I-35 access road at 8:30 a.m. The group will join with other farmers gathered at Municipal Auditorium at 10 a.m. and proceed up Congress Avenue precisely at 11 o'clock. The Capitol grounds will be the site of a rally with state government leaders invited to show their support for agriculture.

Signs on the tractors and other vehicles will proclaim much of the anger the farmers feel over low prices and losses. Many will display some of the lesser known consumer-oriented statistics such as the fact that farmers receive only three cents from the retail price of a loaf of bread, or two hundred dollars from nine thousand dollars worth of cotton shirts.

"The people in our cities just don't realize how few

Fun Calendar now available

It's obvious that every season is fun time in Texas, according to the latest Calendar of Texas Events now available from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Although many indoor activities are scheduled in the calendar's new winter edition, the state's favorable year round climate is illustrated by a wide variety of outdoor events as well. Further, the brevity of Texas' winter is emphasized by the fact that the six-month calendar covers both autumn foliage tours and spring wild flower trails.

Hundreds of events for both Texans and visitors are listed in the new Calendar of Texas Events which covers the period from October through March. It is available from any of the Department's 11 Highway Tourist Bureaus, or from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, Box 5064, Austin, Texas 78763.

Radial tires need some attention, too

Don't be fooled by radial tires. That soft or underinflated look may mean your tires need more air, the Tire Industry Safety Council cautions.

Radial tires, even when properly inflated, bulge in the sidewalls and look as though they need air. "Because of this," said Council Chairman Malcolm R. Lovell, Jr., "many Americans have become accustomed to this appearance and are taking their radials for granted. They are neglecting to use a tire pressure gauge to check the air pressure on a regular basis."

"For a radial to give optimal performance, it must be properly inflated," Lovell added. "Underinflation causes a tire to run hot, thus reducing its tread life and strength and increasing the risk of sudden disablement."

Neglect of radial tires is posing a real problem, according to Lovell. "All tires, regardless of construction or price, tend to lose air over a period of time and should be checked every two or three weeks or before long trips."

Unlike bias or belted bias tires, the cords in a radial tire run at right angles to the center of the tread or from rim-edge to rim-edge. Two or more very stable and strong belts, made from steel, fiberglass, rayon or other materials, run around the tire's circumference under the tread. This results in a tire with flexible sidewalls but with great stiffness and strength in the tread area.

"Radial tires have minimal squirm, provide longer wear and give better gasoline mileage. Properly inflated radial tires can deliver up to 5 percent better gas mileage," Lovell said.

The Tire Industry Safety Council has drawn up the following list of tips for radial tires:

—Rotate radials from front to rear on the same side of the car. Don't use a criss-cross rotation pattern unless your tire dealer recommends it to correct a severe wear problem.

—For best performance, radials should be used on all wheel positions. But if you must mix tires of different construction, always put the radials on the rear.

—Make sure the suspension and shock absorbers of your car are tuned to handle radials before switching if your car is an older model. Most late model cars are already adapted for radials, which are original equipment on many autos.

"Remember, don't let that bulge in a radial fool you. It can lose air like a tire of any other construction," Lovell said. "I'm afraid we've grown to accept that soft or underinflated look, and this could lead to trouble."

City of Hutto still has one-man police force

by Bill DeFries

Last Thursday, I walked into the residence of the entire City of Hutto Police Department. This isn't to say that they all live together, but that there truly is only one member of that particular department, and he is temporarily out of commission.

Bob Cummins, the one-man police force of Hutto, limped to the door with his still injured leg, the result of a wound from a .25 caliber gunman back in July. (not to be confused with the .45 caliber killer of New York).

His chest wound, also received in that exchange of fire, has almost healed, but the nerve where the bullet went through his thigh is still giving him trouble.

In recollection of the July event, 35-year old Cummins stated, "It was all over in a matter of seconds. It just happened so fast." The gunman was put away by Cummins' wife, Mary, who, sensing trouble when her husband drew his gun, opened fire on the gunman and killed him.

It was at this time in his recollection of the event that Cummins reflected on putting his wife through police school. "I think it was well worth it, both for me and her." The end result was certainly better for both parties. She is certified as an officer in Round Rock, and he gets a longer life.

Currently, the Hutto police beat is being covered by assisting members of the Williamson County Highway Patrol and the Constable.

Cummins stated that being on good terms with the local authorities certainly made him feel better about not being able to watch over the town. This way he can rest a little more easily during his period of recuperation.

which, by the way, he doesn't know how long will be. Plans are for him to make another visit to the doctor around the first of the month to see about the nerve in his leg. He hopes to hear some positive news, as to his return to duty, at this time.

On return, he comes back to the routine activities that take place in a town of almost 600. Those being the average 25 traffic violations per month, an occasional stealing of a tire or hubcap, and, once in a while, a knife fight at the local cantina.

But, he seems ready to get back on the job. His frustration showed in his statement, "I still wake up at 5 a.m. every morning as if I were going to work."

He then leaned back in his large black lounge and added, "I'm wearing this thing out. This sitting sure gets old."

BRUSHY NUISANCE — This brush piled along the side of Leander Street has created an eyesore, as well as being a potential fire hazard during the dry spell of the past several weeks. Residents of the area have reportedly complained to the city on more than one occasion about the brush, which was cleared some time back from along the railroad, but thus far, nothing has been done about removing it.

connected to positive emotions," says Nikita B. Mankovsky, deputy director of the Kiev Institute. "The person made things and he was happy."

FINALLY, LONG-LIVED people are usually members of large, close-knit families, which Dr. Mankovsky calls "very important, because they enjoy the respect of others."

This certainly gives one something to mull over. I don't know what I'm doing sitting at a typewriter in New York City. I may not be able to work on a farm, but at least I can slow down.

Well, old Bella bit the dust, probably forever in politics. Goes to show how acute I am in electoral judgments. My only consolation — and it isn't much — is that most professional political commentators were just as wrong as I was. Ain't politics grand?

Sharon Webb, Jonah, Walburg, Liberty Hill, and Florence residents will be reached with a letter, pledge card, and pamphlet. And for the first time, Jonah and Liberty Hill businesses will be contacted, as well.

Isbell commented that United Way Board of Directors are looking for a big response from rural residents this year because services funded by the United Way are not restricted to Georgetown alone.

Take Stonehaven, for example, one of the leading centers in the county for elderly people, which services about 3,000 people a month, all healthier and happier for the experience.

Georgetown City Recreation Agency, which provides swimming lessons, tennis lessons, weight and exercise training classes, and sponsors the Babe Ruth League Program, not just for residents of Georgetown, but for all residents of the county.

The library, 4-H, the Red Cross, Salvation Army, and the Williamson County Treatment Center, located in Taylor, all of which have no residential restriction to their services.

The Texas Rehabilitation Center — a highly respected non-profit medical foundation in Gonzales — which for a mere $230 funding from United Way enables any and all county residents to use its services and facilities.

This year marks the first time Georgetown United Way is funding the Williamson County Treatment Center, a center which provides services for learning disabilities, for elderly or stroke victims, social and family counseling parent programs, and supplements the public school program. So far, half the people receiving treatment at the center have been from Georgetown.

Cerebral Palsy is also new to Georgetown's United Way Campaign. The funding will provide expensive equipment used in the therapy of Cerebral Palsy children, corrective shoes, training and counseling of Cerebral Palsy parents, and gasoline transportation costs to an Austin treatment center.

Georgetown United Way will also add another first to an increasing list of "first ever" when it opens campaign headquarters, located at 714 S. Austin in the lobby of the U. S. Life Title Building. It will be staffed from 11:30 - 1:30, and from 5-7 p.m. throughout the 30 days of the campaign. Hank Carver, manager of U. S. Life, donated dards for the elementary age child.

Mrs. Ford said that breakfast tickets go on sale each morning at 7:30 a.m. but they are not sold individually.

A five-day to ticket is sold for $1.50 (full price) or a 20-day ticket is sold for $6. Reduced-price breakfasts are available to those students who qualify.

The tickets do not have to be used on consecutive days. Mrs. Ford explained, and will remain valid until all five or all twenty of the meals have been eaten.

The tickets are kept on a filing system and the students do not have to keep up with their tickets.

Westside is the pilot school for the breakfast program which will be initiated in all Georgetown district schools in the fall of 1978.

Eagles climb poll

Georgetown High's Eagles continued to climb in the weekly Harris Football Ratings, moving up to 33rd in the state in Class AAA this week following a 17-15 victory over Class AA toughie Llano.

The Eagles had been ranked 36th last week after a rating of 57th on the first weekly poll prior to their season-opening 31-13 rout of highly-regarded Class AAAA Copperas Cove.

Coach Les Johnson's team was picked as a solid 22-point favorite over Leander in their Friday night meeting at Eagle Field, causing Johnson to say, "I'm sure glad that prediction won't come out in the paper until after our game with Leander. I'd hate for the kids to see that before the game because we certainly don't want them to get to thinking they're going to have it easy with Leander. That's a good way to get beat."

District 12AAA favorite Belton moved up to ninth in the Class AAA state ratings this week while defending league champion Taylor slipped one notch to 38th after losing a 9-7 battle with Rockdale last week.

Other 12AAA teams and their ratings include Lockhart (61), Round Rock (94), Westlake (99), Del Valle (102) and Lampasas (127).

Leander, which lost to Pflugerville 20-19 and upset Round Rock 7-6, was ranked 120th in Class AA going into the game with Georgetown.

Bass grow at Canyon

Smallmouth bass which were stocked in Canyon reservoir in 1976 have reproduced to an extent that no further stockings should be necessary according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists.

Biologist Wade Butler said that rotenone samples taken on three Canyon coves on August 18 turned up 26 smallmouth young-of-the-year ranging in size from three to four inches. An earlier sample in July found two smallmouths, two and three inches in length.

"This indicates a good growth rate," said Butler. "In fact the 1977 smallmouths are growing at twice the rate of the largemouths, which is what we hoped for when the smallmouth bass were introduced."

Butler pointed out that smallmouth do not compete for food with native largemouth bass, and smallmouth are able to find food along the steep sides of reservoirs such as Canyon, areas not normally inhabited by largemouth.

Record blue marlin caught

During what has turned out to be a successful summer for saltwater fishermen and a busy one for Texas State Fish Records officials at the Parks and Wildlife Department, yet another fish taken from the Gulf of Mexico has been certified as a record.

A blue marlin landed by Donald Dashiell of Houston tipped the scales at 691 pounds and exceeds one of 560 pounds taken by Patt Hawn in May.

Dashiell caught the new record blue marlin out of Freeport in mid-July.

The fish measured 12 feet nine inches in length with a girth of 68 inches.

Dashiell was using 130-pound-test line and fishing mullet as bait in some 120 fathoms of water.

The marlin brings the total number of saltwater fish records to seven for 1977. In addition to the record for marlin, ones have been set for dolphin, mako shark, king and spanish mackerel, southern stingray and yellowfin tuna.
